SURVIVES OVER
6000 VOLTS*Lowell Man Has Miraculous
Escape From Electrocution
at Bridgeport*John Reilly Lives After 6600
Volts, Enough to Kill Three
Men, Pass Through Body

John Reilly, formerly of 32 Chapel street, this city, and a brother of Joseph M. Reilly, recently discharged from the United States army where he served as a lieutenant, has had the unique experience of surviving after 6600 volts of electricity had passed through his body, according to information received by his relatives here. Ordinarily, 2000 volts are sufficient to kill a person.

The accident happened recently to Bridgeport, Conn., where Mr. Reilly is employed by the United Illuminating Co. He was making repairs to one of the company's lines and inasmuch as the power was shut off, he did not wear rubber gloves. In the course of his work he completed a circuit of the live wires, the current coursed through his body and he was thrown to the ground, unconscious.

The power was shut off and the Lowell man was given first aid until the arrival of the ambulance. He was removed to St. Vincent's hospital, Bridgeport, and a few hours later had fully recovered. With the exception of slight blisters on one hand and one of the toes of his right foot, he escaped unharmed.

Experts from all over the country, upon hearing of the unusual accident, visited Mr. Reilly and the interest in his unprecedented recovery was most marked. The low amperage, or strength of the current, is said to have saved his life, but this does not lessen the fact that 6600 volts passed through his body, or more than three times the number ordinarily sufficient to cause a person's death.

Reilly, who is only 21 years old, left this city about five years ago and during the war period was employed by a naval construction concern in Bridgeport. He is well known here especially in the South End section of the city.

FRENCH UNCOVER
HUNS' INIQUITY*Military Court at Lille Hears
Testimony on Murders and
Outraging Girls

LILLE, France, Aug. 20. (By the French wireless service.)—Evidence adduced before the French military court inquiring into crimes committed by the Germans during the occupation, indicates that a charge of murder may be brought against Von Heinrich, a former military governor of Lille.

Testimony against Von Heinrich was given today by Madame Jacques and Madame Martens, widows of men shot by the Germans. It was testified that after sentence of death had been passed on Jacques and Martens, Von Heinrich authorized the lawyers of the condemned men to appeal to the German emperor. While the appeal was being made, Von Heinrich, it was declared, ordered that the men be executed and they were shot 24 hours later.

The military court also has heard evidence against Von Zoelne, former quartermaster general at Charleville. It has been testified that he was responsible for the deportation of girls from Lille in 1916. Gen. von Gravenitz, governor of Lille at the time, it was declared, held Von Zoelne responsible for the order of deportation. Dr. Van Haverbeke, a resident of Fives, near Lille, told the court that Captain Himmeln is Belafre was responsible for the murder of the doctor's 19-year-old son in Nov., 1918. The boy was bayoneted by a German soldier on the order of the captain. The doctor testified further that the captain, the German governor of Roubaix were responsible for the torturing of French youths in German work camps.

The court also is inquiring into the case of Lieut. Roessel von Gymnitz of the 5th chasseurs of Treves. The lieutenant is charged with the attempted murder of Abbe Hallinck of Marca-en-Barrois. It is declared that the officer while drunk twice stabbed the priest in whose house he was living. Afterward he smashed the furniture and stole some money.

On the recommendation of Division Engineer Pillsbury, the recent petition by the town of Billerica to the state highway commission for assistance in repairing Felland street—for which purpose the town voted $2000 at the last annual town meeting—has been turned down by the state authorities.

PLAN OF LEAGUE*Senators Borah and Johnson

trine, Article X, Home Matters, Right to Quit League

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—With many facts developed at yesterday's conference with President Wilson before it, the senate foreign relations committee today was ready to resume consideration of the peace treaty. J. C. Ferguson, an authority on far eastern affairs, had been called to testify before the committee relative to Shantung, and related questions.

The only expressions of opinion today as to the conference were from Senators Borah and Johnson, California, republicans, who in a joint statement set forth the facts developed at the conference as they viewed it and declared that these facts showed that the position they had maintained "in respect to this covenant of the League of Nations is justified and confirmed."

Tinkering League
Four reservations on the League of Nations covenant, are embodied in a separate resolution prepared today by Senator Pittman of Nevada, a democratic member of the foreign relations committee, for introduction in the senate.

Senator Pittman said the reservations had not been submitted to the president. They are similar to those proposed by a group of seven republican senators and deal with the right of withdrawal from the league, Article X, domestic questions and the Monroe Doctrine.

Senator Pittman said the resolution was in line with the suggestion made to the foreign relations committee yesterday by President Wilson that if reservations are to be made, they should be embodied in a separate resolution and not in the resolution of ratification which might make new negotiations necessary.

United States Cavalry's Efforts to Capture Bandits

MARFA, Tex., Aug. 20.—Somewhere in Mexico, opposite Candelaria, Tex., American soldiers today continued the pursuit captured yesterday of bandits who captured and held for ransom Lts. Peterson and Davis, American aviators, rescued yesterday after payment of $8500 in gold to the bandit leader.

Military headquarters here was without information from the punitive expedition, heavy storms in the mountains of Chihuahua interrupting communication via the field telephones of the army.

Possibility that the American soldiers already have had their first skirmish with the bandits was indicated last night when two aviators returned to the American side with bullet holes in the plane of their machine and a report that they had been attacked by three Mexicans, one of whom they believed they killed with machine gun bullets. Another was believed to have been wounded and the third put to flight.

Four airplanes which arrived from Fort Bliss, near El Paso, were to augment the air protection of the Eighth Cavalry in Mexico today.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The key to the front door of the Mansion House in London, recovered recently at Camp Devens, Mass., in the baggage of Lieut. Ira I. Hodes of Brooklyn, was stolen at an entertainment for American wounded by a sailor who was caught in the act and sent the key to the officers' hotel, Lieut. Hodes said today.

The lieutenant explained that soon after the key was sent in, he was stricken with influenza and forgot to return the key, which later was packed into his bedding-roll by the porter of his hotel. The bedding-roll, he added, was mislaid and only recently recovered.

Lieut. Hodes denied a report that the key was offered Gen. Pershing as a symbol of the freedom of the city on the occasion of his visit to London. The officer asserted also that another key found in his belongings had been purchased by him at a curiosity shop.

FUNERAL OF ALEXANDER
G. CUMNOCK TODAY

Men and women from every walk of life in numbers which taxed the accommodations of his home in Belmont avenue, this afternoon attended the funeral of Alexander G. Cumnock, held at 2 o'clock. The services were jointly conducted by three former pastors of the Kirk Street Congregational church, to which he had given so much in Christian service. They were Rev. George M. Ward, D.D., president of Rollins college, Florida, at present acting pastor of the Elliot Union church; Rev. James E. Greir, D.D., president of Hampton Institute, and Rev. William F. English, Jr., who resigned his pastorate upon the union of the Kirk Street and Elliot churches. The quartet of the Elliot Union church sang and there were solos by Mrs. Grace Bowen Williams of Boston. A delegation was present representing the Appleton Co.

The honorary bearers were the following business associates and close friends: Albert W. Burdham, Charles H. Eames, John Wright, Elmer Bowen, Charles P. Young, M. A. Hamilton, and Frank E. Dunbar of Lowell; Charles E. Sampson of New York and Alfred Ripley, Samuel Widger and Graeme Haughton of Boston. The active bearers were John Murphy, P. T. Corbett, O. G. Fish, Neil McN. Waters, Zetrell Carroll, H. S. Gallagher, Thomas McNeeney, A. S. Locke and E. C. Pratt, all overseers of the Appleton Co. Burial was made in the Lowell cemetery.

As a mark of respect the stores in the Appleton block in Middlesex street were closed between the hours of 2 and 2:30 o'clock.

War Veteran

BALTIMORE, Aug. 20.—Thomas J. O'Donoghue of Lowell, Mass., and another man, both laborers at the Aberdeen proving grounds, were blown to pieces and five men were seriously injured yesterday, when a box of experimental super-sensitive 38-millimeter shells, which was being carried by the two men killed, exploded.

May Be War Veteran
There is no Thomas J. O'Donoghue listed in the Lowell directory and the families of that name do not know of any man of the name mentioned in the foregoing dispatch. The nearest person answering the description is Thomas J. Donohoe, son of Mrs. Della Donohoe of 21 State street. Mr. Donohoe has been away from home for the past week and when he left he told his mother that he was going out of town looking for work. She has not heard from him since. Donohoe is a veteran of the world war and served 18 months in France with Company M of the 101st regiment. He is an only child and his father, the late Peter Donohoe, was well known as a police officer at Lakeview. He died several years ago.

ALLEGED AUTO THIEF
Cambridge Man, Caught After Sensational Chase, Charged With Larceny

Charged with stealing an automobile, the property of Dr. John H. Donovan of this city, which was taken from John street a few weeks ago and afterwards recovered in Lawrence, Jas. F. McCarthy, 20, of Cambridge, alias Jack Mullen, and James Mahoney, one of the two young men recently arrested in Quincy by Boston and Lawrence policemen on a charge of auto larceny after a sensational chase from the down river city in which several shots were fired by the pursuing officers, and who is now being held in $500 in the Hub police court, was arraigned before Judge Enright in police court today. He pleaded not guilty and was held in $3000 additional for hearing two weeks from today.

McCarthy was brought to Lowell last evening by Sergt. Higelow and Inspector Coty of the Cambridge police, and as a result of his admissions, Supt. Welch said this morning, a Hudson roadster valued at $2500, the property of Mrs. Dorothy Mack of Cambridge, which was stolen recently, was found in a local man's barn, with the paint entirely removed, and otherwise disfigured. The car had been sold to the man by McCarthy for $700, according to the chief, while the latter, with Joseph La Forge, another Boston young man, who was arrested at Quincy with McCarthy, had been camping at Lakeview during the latter part of July.

In the arrest of McCarthy Supt. Welch believes that the stealing of Dr. Donovan's car will be finally cleared up. A local young man has been held by the police on the charge, and recently went with Supt. Welch to the Charlestown jail and identified McCarthy and La Forge as the two young men who had "loaned" him the car when he was arrested in Lawrence with the stolen machine. It is thought that this young man will be discharged when his case is called on continuance in police court Friday.

William E. Riley, instructor in penmanship at the State Normal school in this city, was one of the speakers at a conference of a thousand parochial school teachers of this state which started Monday and is being held all this week in Boston College high school, Boston.

NEW BOILERS FOR CITY BUILDINGS

It will cost the public property department a total of $1350 to install new boilers in the Colburn and Dover street schools and the Gorham street fire house, in place of the boilers now there which have been condemned by the state authorities.

This morning, Commissioner George E. Marchand opened bids on the boilers and it was found that the lowest bidders were Farrell & Conant on the Colburn school boiler, $1590; Thomas E. O'Day & Co. on the Dover Street school, $1175, and Thomas E. O'Day & Co. also on the Gorham street engine house, $1215, or a total of $4250.

The complete list of bids for each building was as follows:
Colburn school: William H. McElholm, $1225; J. F. McMahon, $2211; Farrell & Conant, $1590; J. A. Cotter & Co., $1957.50; Thomas E. O'Day & Co., $1365; T. Costello & Co., $2145.25; E. J. Leary, $2053; Joseph F. McMenamin, $2112; and Roache & Co., $2607.

Dover street school: William H. McElholm, $1225; James F. McMahon, $1353; Farrell & Conant, $1198; John A. Cotter, $1351; Thomas E. O'Day & Co., $1175; T. Costello & Co., $-534.20; D. J. Leary, $1235; Roache & Co., $1321; Joseph F. McMenamin, $1274.

Gorham street engine house: William H. McElholm, $1392; James F. McMahon, $1515; Patrick F. Welch, $1379; Farrell & Conant, $1327; John A. Cotter & Co., $1850; Thomas E. O'Day & Co., $1215; T. ALLIED SHOE WORKERS
Meeting of Strikers Reports
No Change—Boston Man
Joins Strikers

Louis Del Rossi of Jamaica Plain, appeared at the meeting of the Allied Shoe Workers' union here this morning, and stated that he came to Lowell yesterday and worked at one of the local shops, as a strike-breaker. He claims that he was hired in Boston with the understanding that he was to be employed in a new plant. When he discovered, he said that the plant was one affected by the local strike, he immediately withdrew.

Mr. Rossi, who is said to be a member of the Allied Shoe Workers' union, stated that he is one of the strikers of the Thomas Plant Shoe company at Jamaica Plain, who have been out on strike for the past 11 weeks. He stated that while on picket duty near the plant of the company's man who maintains an employment agency in Boston informed him that there was work for him in Lowell. He accepted but left when he found a strike was on in the plant. He said several others were similarly engaged.

This morning's meeting was presided over by Business Agent George Racine, who took occasion to warn his listeners not to lay their hands on any one ad of to make threats of any kind. He informed them that peaceful picketing would be allowed, but the union will not tolerate any acts of the strikers that are not in conformity with the law. Routine business was transacted and the strikers voted unanimously to keep up the strike until their demands for recognition of the union and collective bargaining are granted.

Lowell Street Railway Men
Receive No Notice to Call
Special Session

The notice to call special meetings of the local unions of street railway men throughout the Eastern Massachusetts division to consider the recent wage increase granted by the war labor board which was to have been sent out from Boston today by the joint conference board, has not been received in Lowell and even though it comes to Pres. Thomas J. Powers this afternoon, no meeting will be held tonight, as was previously intimated.

Rumors of strike, following a rejection of the award, are still in the air, but in no manner is it possible to gauge the sense of the meeting whenever it is held. The general sentiment seems to be against the acceptance of the 12 per cent. increase.

The public trustees of the road have published a letter, addressed to the men of all unions, to be read at the special meetings which will consider the labor board's award and copies were to have been sent to each local

"OUR DEAD REMIND ALLIES OF U. S. IDEALS"

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—General Pershing in a cablegram to the war department, has expressed the opinion that the bodies of American soldiers who died abroad should be left near where they fell.

"I believe that could these soldiers speak for themselves, they would wish to be left undisturbed, where, with their comrades, they fought the last fight," General Pershing said. "The graves of our soldiers constitute, if they are allowed to remain, a perpetual reminder of our allies of the liberty and ideals upon which the greatness of America rests. Recommend that none of our dead be removed from Europe, unless their nearest relatives so demand after a full understanding of all the sentimental reasons against such removal, and further recommend that immediate steps be taken for permanently improving and beautifying our cemeteries."

Stage Hands and Musicians Expected to Walk Out, Supporting Actors' Strike

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—A strike of stage hands and musicians as an adjunct of the actors' strike threatens to close every downtown playhouse in this city tonight. It was planned to walk out last night but leaders of the stage hands and musicians postponed action for one night.

"We might as well have it over with," Richard Green, head of the stage hands' union said in declaring there would be no stagemen at any playhouse today and that the musicians also would not appear.

The managers of all the theatres affected said they would look their doors. If threats of such character are carried out only the photoplay and vaudeville houses will be in operation.

I feel better and stronger in every way since taking it, and the annoying symptoms have disappeared."—Mrs. M. GODDEN, 925 Napoleon St., Fremont, Ohio.

Such annoying symptoms as heat flashes, nervousness, backache, headache, irritability and "the blues," may be speedily overcome and the system restored to normal conditions by this famous root and herb remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The letters constantly being published from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

bulletin continues by saying that the region where the airplane landed is a desert, where it is known some bands of outlaws have their rendezvous and have not been scattered because of the difficult nature of the country. This note from Col. Langhorne asked permission for other American airplanes to cross the frontier to locate the lost pilots.

It is stated that President Carranza gave his consent for other airplanes to cross, but, believing they would accomplish nothing, had ordered Gen. Antonio Pruneda, chief in command at Olinaga, to send out cavalry scouting parties. It is said the government has been unofficially informed that the aviators have been ransomed and that the Eighth American Cavalry has sent troops in pursuit of the bandits, but that no official report has been received from Gen. Dieguez.

Washington Reports "Border Nuisance" to Have Strict Measures Taken

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Mexican border raids and depredations by bandits directly across the border, evidence from official sources today showed, will in the future bring upon the marauders the armed forces of the United States. The present punitive expedition, led by Major General Joseph T. Dickman, commander of the southern department, it was learned, constitutes the first working out of the new policy, which one official characterized as "handling the border nuisance without gloves."

The border guard, it was said, was equipped admirably for such work with swift moving cavalry, machine gun sections and airplanes stationed at detached points along the Rio Grande.

president yesterday, but as yet Pres. Powers has not received it.

In reply to this statement from the trustees, union officials in conference at the Quincy House, Boston, late yesterday afternoon gave out the following message:

"In reply to your question of 'Do we intend to remain true to our solemn agreement to abide by our arbitration wage award of the National War Labor Board?' we say that we will abide by any agreement we enter into, but in the present case, there has never been an agreement to abide by this decision. The failure to have an agreement was brought about by the refusal of yourself and colleagues to bind yourself to take this action."

"May 30 we notified the War Labor Board that under the six months' clause in the award handed down by this board, we wished our case reopened. We then presented an agreement calling for a wage of 75 cents an hour for motormen and conductors; the eight-hour day; time and a half pay for overtime work; time and a half pay for all Sunday and holiday work of motormen and conductors, and the 44-hour week for the miscellaneous workers."

"This agreement was rejected by your company. Your company also refused to allow this agreement to be placed before the war labor board for arbitration. Instead, a counter proposition was submitted to us, to be dated from July 18, which would mean the loss to our men of all retroactive

The August Sale OF FURS

Even if you have not had any intention of buying new furs you should see these offerings for they forecast the mode for Fall and Winter.

Recent shipments have enabled us to assemble into interesting groups some of the finest peltries we have ever had the opportunity to present. Here are the skins and styles that will enjoy the greatest vogue during the coming months.

We have planned many months for this event and investigation will prove that the very special prices in effect during this Sale are most remarkable considering the scarcity of pelts and ever increasing costs.

MILK DEALER THOUGHT OF HIS WIFE

When Mr. Chas. Rowell, the well known milk dealer and farmer of Amesbury, Mass., found that Goldine really helped him get rid of his rheumatism, he decided it must be good medicine and went after some for his wife. He said:

"I had rheumatism all winter and spring. I think it was caused by getting on and off the milk wagon all the time. It settled in the muscles below the knees and at night would cramp my legs so that I would have to get up and walk the floor. It affected my walking, too, and gave me a lot of trouble. Then a friend told me about Goldine and I went after some. It helped the rheumatism and I can walk much better now."

"I want some more for myself and some for my wife. It's great stuff."

Remember, GOLDINE is sold in Lowell by Carter & Sherburne, F. H. Butler & Co., W. P. Caisse, J. Fred Howard, Wm. R. Kiernan, Frank E. McNabb, Wm. H. Noonan, R. P. Webber, Frye & Crawford Co. It is also sold by Roland G. Wright in Billerica, John S. Wentwood in Chelmsford, Constant & Co. in Littleton, Edward A. Woodside in Wilmington and dealers in Ayer, Westford, Dracut, Tewksbury and other towns. If your dealer does not carry GOLDINE in stock, have him secure it through the Lawrence Drug Co.

Final Day of Food Sale

Uncle Sam's canned bargains, and Postmaster Meehan believes that when the sale closes late this afternoon practically all the goods allowed the local office will have been spoken for. At noon today many of the various men at the special meetings to be held tomorrow night. We will read it to them, but we know now, that with the thoughts of the empty coal bins in their homes, their failure to properly feed their families and the holes in their shoes and clothing with a severe winter but a few months away, the letter and award will receive exactly the same consideration that the members of the Pittsburgh Street Car men's union gave the award when it was placed before them."

commodities had been entirely exhausted, and the three clerks on duty were having a busy time filling the orders of the army of purchasers who are taking advantage of this chance to get a crack at old high cost of living.

Postmaster Meehan said that he was extremely gratified at the manner in which local people have taken advantage of the sale, and also at the almost entire absence of "hogging" throughout the three days of the sale. He regretted, he said, that he had received no instructions regarding the sale of army blankets, regarding which the postal officials had been deluged with inquiries since the sale began.

It is possible, said the postmaster, that another parcel post sale of government food and other commodities will be held in the near future, if public demand requires it. However, the present sale comes to a close at 4:30 o'clock sharp today. Should another sale be inaugurated, details will be published in this paper as soon as the postmaster is notified.

Large orders were again a feature of the sale today. The 100-pound bags of rice, flour and dry beans continued strong sellers, and the "canned wiffle," or canned corned beef, to give it its civilian title, had almost all been taken up at noon.

The foodstuffs will be forwarded to Lowell from the army supply base at South Boston as expeditiously as possible, probably in a few days. They will then be distributed to the farmers through the local parcel post delivery. Persons whose orders are unfilled by reason of the supplies coming exhausted will be able to receive the money paid by presents their receipt at the postoffice.

BIG PARADE LABOR DAY

Plans Complete for Welcome Home to French-Speaking Service Men

Chief Marshal Albert Bergeron has announced the route of the parade to be held on Labor day, in connection with the welcome home celebration for the French-speaking soldiers and sailors of this city, which is as follows:

The parade will form in Westford street, near the armory, promptly at 3 o'clock, going over the following streets: Smith to Branch, to Middlesex, to Central, to Merrimack, to Pawtucket, to School, to Riverside, to Moody, to Aiken, to West Sixth,

CAPT. ALBERT BERGERON

to West street and counter-march to Aiken, to Merrimack, to Cabot, to Salem, to Common as far as the North common, where it will be dismissed.

From the North common, the soldiers and sailors who will participate in the parade will be escorted to the town at the home of Mrs. Anna de Lamotte, at the corner of Salem and Whiting streets, where a buffet luncheon will be served. The parade will be reviewed by city and state officials at city hall.

It is expected that the parade, which will be a feature of the celebration, will be one of the best ever conducted in this city, and it is being predicted that it will even eclipse that held some 13 years ago, in observance of St. John's day. There will be five divisions and it is expected that at least 50 handsomely decorated floats depicting very important subjects in relation to the world war, will be in line. A feature of the parade will also be the cavalcade, in which it is expected no less than 100 horses will figure.

The chief marshal of the parade will be Capt. Albert Bergeron of K company, State Guard, while his chief of staff will be Lieut. Hervey D. Parthenalis. Lieut. Arthur L. Eno will be adjutant and the chief aide will be Sergt. Joseph Landry. Sergt. Eugene Ricard will be military aide and on the chief marshal's staff will be a representative of each organization that will participate in the parade.

The first division will be the military section with Lieut. Xavier A. Isle as marshal. The chief of staff will be Ensign Napoleon Vincent, while the adjutant will be J. A. N. Chretien. Chief Quartermaster Joseph P. Crepeau will be in charge of the naval section and will have for his chief aide Chief Mechanist Eugene Demers. Corp. Emile Lamoureux will be bugler and Priv. Wilfrid Achin will be military aide.

The second division, which will be composed of semi-military organizations, will have as marshal Capt. George Labrie of Garde Sacre-Coeur. Capt. Nelson Phillips of Garde d'Honneur, will be chief aide, while the adjutant will be Lieut. Edmond Gamache of Garde St. Louis.

The third division will be composed of fraternal societies and will be in command of Francis X. Mirel, who

POWERFUL PILE REMEDY DISCOVERED

Has Never Failed to End Most Obsolete Case of Piles in Few Days

For years it has been proved that so-called external remedies applied to or inserted in the rectum cannot cure piles, and at the best can only give temporary relief. Surgical operations also do not remove this cause, but simply the formation.

This wonderful prescription, known as Miro Pile Remedy, is so efficient in the treatment of piles, that even chronic cases of from 20 to 30 years standing with profuse bleeding have been completely cured in from three to ten days. Think of it! Just a few doses of a carefully balanced prescription and the most persistent case of piles is absorbed, never to return.

Just read what Henry J. Stone of the Lorain, Ohio, Fire Department says: "I had bleeding and protruding piles for three years and tried all kinds of remedies without result, but was thoroughly cured after taking one bottle of Miro."

will have as his assistant, Frederick Giroux.

The fourth division will be composed of members of the Sacred Heart league and Alfred Hervieux will be its marshal. He will be assisted by Arthur Morvan as chief of staff and Benjamin Lajeunesse as chief aide.

The fifth or automobile division will be in charge of Octave Lamontagne, who will have for chief of staff and chief aide respectively, Arthur Gaudette and Timothee Ros.

GERMANS TO BUY NO HOLLAND FOOD

BERLIN, Tuesday, Aug. 19.—(By the Associated Press)—As a result of the continued downward trend of the German mark, the food controller has ordered the discontinuance of purchases in Holland and Denmark. While the action is ostensibly based on the pretext that supplies already under contract meet most urgent needs and that these sources of supply may be temporarily dispensed with, in view of increasing arrivals of overseas shipments, official concern over the exchange situation is held to be directly responsible for the controller's order.

PURCHASING AGENT HAS SOME TASK

Just to show what a merry life the purchasing agent of our good city leads, a consideration of some of the items on a requisition submitted to Purchasing Agent Edward H. Foye today by the school department in anticipation of the opening of the chemistry department of the high school next month will be of interest. Mr. Foye is asked to scamp around and coral among other things three pounds of carbon disulphide. After that is secured he must hustle and get one pound of carbon tetrachloride.

Use Coconut Oil For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Multisided coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Multisided coconut oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Adv.

ride and if his tongue is still working well after stuttering all that, the chemistry department would like him to buy a pound of chloroform. Just whom the chloroform is to be used on is not specified. A little ammonium nitrate, barium chloride, copper oxide, mercurous nitrate and calcium carbide would also be acceptable by the chemistry department, according to the requisition. Asked where he would get all these elements, Mr. Foye shook his head and said: "Search me!"

Four men were forwarded from the Lowell naval recruiting station today for the U.S.S. No. Dakota. They were: Arthur F. Sheehan, 559 Agawam street; Charles S. Mayo, 51 Sydney street; Avriel L. Duffy, 63 Branch street; and Wilfrid Smith, Methuen. All four enlisted as apprentice seamen.

Red Letter Day

to mar the unbroken record; the good Lord must be on my side. We never have had a serious accident, either." These incident facts are but trivial, however, in comparison with the record he has created for whole hearted philanthropy and kindness. He is indeed "the children's friend" and no one will gainsay him the happy title. From the moment 10 special electric cars pulled out of Merrimack square at 8.30 o'clock this morning each loaded with 200 or more giggling, expectant and riotously happy children, the outing was on in full force. Especially detailed policemen assisted in filling the cars and steered the kids to seats, while at the park an even larger detail of police and firemen watched the unloading process and ushered the small army into the picnic grounds. It wasn't an ordinary unloading at the park, however, but rather a spontaneous eruption of dynamic childhood—nervous, excitable and bubbling over with happiness.

Skin Without Wrinkles Now Easy to Have

There's no excuse for any woman having wrinkles now. It has been found that a simple mixture of squalite and which has a remarkable action upon their deepest wrinkles, no matter what their nature, whether caused by weather, worry, habitual frowning, a debilitated condition or the ravages of Father Time. This harmless remedy, which anyone can easily make and use at home, acts both as an astringent and a tonic. The combined effect of lightening the skin and heightening its vitality is to immediately affect every line and wrinkle, keeping the cuticle smooth and firm as in youth.

The proportions are one ounce squalite (powdered) to one-half pint with squalite, ingredients which are found in every drugstore. The solution should be used as a wash lotion. It is equally effective in disposing of flabbiness of cheek and neck, as well as sagging below the eyes.—Adv.

the picture at the park once everybody was within the gates. The kids scattered in every direction, heading nowhere in particular but bound to keep constantly on the move. They typified perpetual motion to an extreme degree and were as easy to count and keep track of as a flock of dashing chickens. But then, that's what they were out there for. It was to them one of Allah's ordained holidays and they drank deep of the proffered cup.

Drank is right. They broke through a perfect barrage of lemonade and hundreds of pairs of eyes looked heavenwards as liquid of every conceivable hue flowed down parched throats. Ice cream cones? Yes, verily, by the hundred. Even as early as 10 o'clock the prevailing slogan was: "When do we eat?" Eat—they did nothing else, but never seemed satisfied. Shortly before noon Mr. McManus gathered his helpers around him and gave out the orders to untie the sandwiches, let loose the pies and pull out the spoons of the coffee urns. In long, snake-like lines the kids awaited their turns and many ready hands parcelled out the "big cats". Two thousand sandwiches, pies without number and 50 gallons of coffee disappeared like chaff before the east wind, while 200 gallons of lemonade flowed on like a ceaseless river.

Although it appeared otherwise, the kids really did other things except fill their "tummlies". Officer Maroney took charge of a long list of sporting events and ran them off in quick style and also umpired a hard fought baseball game between the Young Ledges and Chestnut A.C., which ended 8 to 6 in favor of the Ledges. The prizes given out for the running events were very much worth while and included a suit of clothes for a boy, hats for girls, searchlights, stick pins, signet rings, gold and silver chains, cuff links and tie clasps. They were enthusiastically competed for.

Several friends of Mr. McManus helped him with carrying out the program, while the police and firemen who did valiant and patient duty were in charge of Sergt. Palmer. The return from the park was made at 4 o'clock. It was a success, this 19th outing and no mistake.

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of white, shake well, and you have a quart pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost. Your grocer has the lemons and drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white. A few cents. Massage this fragrant lotion into the face, arms and hands each day and you'll have clear, soft, and young skin becomes. Yes! It is so easy and never irritates.—Adv.

O'CONNOR REPORTS AT CLEVELAND TODAY

Ray Caldwell, recently a pitcher of the Boston Red Sox and prior to that with the Yankees, together with Dick O'Connor, outfielder of the Portland team of the Eastern League, joined the American league today. O'Connor played two or three games for Lowell before going to Portland, but it was in the latter city that he showed unmistakable signs of promise and Fred Donnelly had no trouble in selling him at the close of the abbreviated season. Caldwell has been moved around considerably and is slipping fast.

SAYS KLOBY ALREADY UNDER 142 POUNDS

LAWRENCE, Aug. 19.—Tommy (Kloby) Corcoran, who clashes with Eddie Shevlin of Roxbury at O'Sullivan park Saturday afternoon, is already under the weight of 142 pounds which he has agreed to make for Shevlin. Tommy started work Saturday and followed it up the next day with a real boxing session at the park. Johnny Moran of Lowell, who, by the way, looks like a boy that will bear watching, traded with the Lawrence and will continue to do so every night. Tommy says he doesn't intend to do any strenuous work at all, as he is already at weight and feels fit as a fiddle. He is ready to jump into the ring right now and his work from now until he is called into the ring will be of such a nature as to keep him fit. He must avoid getting stale.

SOUTHAMPTON TENNIS

Third Round Starts With International Stars in Play

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 20.—The third round of the lawn tennis singles for the Meadow club cups today will bring together several international stars in the most important contest. Handolph Lycette, the Australian, is to meet S. Howard Vossell, the American left-hander and former national champion. The other principal matches will be between Walter Merrill Hall and Willie B. Davis, the Pacific coast star, and C. Doyle of Washington, D. C., and T. R. Bell, who eliminated R. V. Thomas of the Australian forces yesterday. Weather conditions were favorable today.

Big Pittsburgh Gallery Follows Amateurs Champions

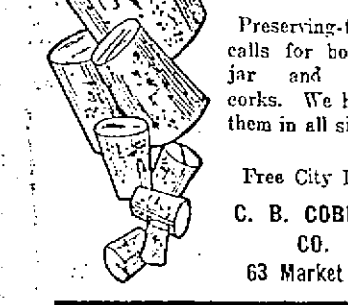

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 20.—Ideal weather conditions greeted the 16 players remaining in the national amateur golf championship at the Oakmont Country club today when they started in the second round matches. The largest crowd that ever followed a golf match in this city turned out to watch Charles (Chick) Evans, Jr. of Chicago, the present champion, in his match with Francis Oulmet of Boston. Robert T. Jones, Jr. of Atlanta, and Robert Gardner of Chicago, met in what was expected to be a hard-fought contest. The east, the west and the south were well represented in the 16 players who shot today for the eight places in the third round which will be played tomorrow.

HOV-CLINTON BOUT OFF

In his bout with Mel Coogan at New Bedford on Monday night Johnny Clinton sustained a cut over the eye which has not healed as rapidly as his manager had hoped, and because of that the Clinton-Cogan bout scheduled at the Crescent A. A. Friday night has been indefinitely postponed. This is the second postponement of the bout between these boys.

NEW ATHLETIC CLUB

Young Greek Residents Form

Active Organization to Promote Good Sport

With a hundred of Lowell's Greek world war veterans as a nucleus, backed by practically all the well known young Greek men of the community, the Marathon Social and Athletic club has come into life. It is a club which will have physical development and the promotion of athletic games as its main objects and so auspiciously has it commenced its activities that already its officers are laying plans for either the erection or purchase of a club building which will contain a modern gymnasium.

At the present time the club is temporarily housed in a building at Hanover and Market streets, but the membership is increasing at a rate which makes it imperative to seek larger quarters. Today the membership rolls carries 280 names and this number is being increased steadily.

At a recent meeting Peter Tsamiras, a member of the local police department and a prominent figure in Greek community life for a number of years, was unanimously elected president. Serving with him are the following officers and directors: Vice President, Zisis Economou; treasurer, John Maropoulos; assistant treasurer, Dracou Georgelas; financial secretary, Charles Iassias; recording secretary, Andrew Papanis; directors, James Zahon, Alek Giatron, George Mavradis, Peter Jonetakis, Steve Stamandis, Andrew Iassias, Maria, James Vasilios, John Panodios; sporting agent, James Andromedias. The latter has been prominent in local athletics as a weight man and jumped of considerable skill for some time.

Mr. Tsamiras hopes to see a membership of more than 500 within a few months and feels sure that the club will prosper and accomplish a great deal of good. With a new building, regular gymnasium classes will be held and interest is certain to run high. The club will stage its first athletic carnival on Labor day, when a track and field meet will be held on the North street campus. The organization has allied itself with the New England Amateur Athletic union and therefore, its meets will be conducted under the auspices of this organization. The Labor day meet will bring a long program of events which will be open to any registered Lowell athlete. Only boys will be held for distribution within a few days.

The Call'em

So well has old Chief Bender been pitching for Richmond in the Virginia league this season that Pat Moran has used all legitimate means to induce him to join the Reds, but he has refused. He refuses to leave his club, which has traveled from last to first place since he assumed the management. He has worked in 23 games and won 21 of them, eight coming within a period of two weeks. He will join the Reds on Sept. 1, the day after the Virginia league closes shop. It would be a pretty bit of sentiment to see the crafty Redskin come back and help twirl Cincinnati to a world championship.

Army, Poor Spring Training Camp Both Grover Cleveland Alexander of the Cubs and Sherrod Smith of the Dodgers agree that army life did wonders for them along the lines of physical development, but seriously retarded their baseball progress. Smith has not pitched in his pre-war style until last Sunday when he says it has taken half of the summer to make the old ball behave correctly. Alex says amen and adds that a ball player must keep his hand in all of the time to retain his form. Hank Gowdy experienced the same trouble, although it did not show up in his work as a catcher with the same degree of prominence as in the case of the two pitchers.

Advertising Pays Nothing like publicity and we here-with slip into the good graces of the business office by telling the world that advertising pays in dollars and cents. But we are beside the point. When a first class boxing show is staged in terse instead of Gotham the boys believe the show is just over with ideas to draw the sports from the metropolis and Mike O'Dowd, telegram to Secretary of War Baker yesterday, inviting that worthy personage to attend the "entertainment" to be staged by Messrs. O'Dowd and Britton at Newark Friday night is a rare bit of propaganda. Not to be outdone, the manager of the club which is to put on the bout, immediately wired a similar "bid" to Secretary Daniels, asking the latter to be his guest for the evening. That ought to draw at least a thousand more.

Wanted—Co-operation

We are going to submit an idea and scheme to the managers of local amateur baseball teams, which, if followed through will settle the city championship beyond a shadow of a doubt—and if they are good sports they will accept it and come along with a lot of co-operation. The manager of every team, who honestly believes his club has a chance for consideration, is asked to submit a copy of his record of games won and lost during the season to date. These will be considered at length by a committee, whose personnel rests entirely with the league managers. We have no desire to undertake the job, neither do we care who considers the records, except as to their bias or partiality. Let this same committee decide the teams which are really in the hunt and arrange a schedule which will eliminate the weaker clubs and eventually produce a city champion. Senseless claims and premature declarations of superiority are tiresome in the extreme and never get anybody anywhere. Let's have a little action.

Tough Luck, Ha! Ha!

We wonder how the Red Sox felt yesterday when they read of Carl Mays throwing a two-hit game against Cleveland, only to have his mighty Yankees lose to victory again. Blondy Cohn pitched one of the masterly games of his baseball career, but we venture to say the Boston boys remarked, "Good enough for him."

LONDON, Aug. 20.—Anti-Bolshevik forces have occupied Kherzon, Nikolai and Cherkassy, on the Dniester river below Kiev, according to an official statement sent out by wireless by the soviet army headquarters at Moscow. The statement adds that on the eastern front, Bolshevik forces have occupied Iletsk, after a fierce battle. Iletsk is about 40 miles southwest of Orenburg. Rumanian military authorities are preparing for an offensive east of the Dniester river for the purpose of joining forces with Gen. SPEEDERS SEE VICTIMS

Chicago Judge Orders Unusual Ordeal for Arrested Men in His Court

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—Punishment for automobile speeders calculated to be as effective as it is strange was prescribed yesterday by Judge John Stelk of Speeders Court. Defendants in court this morning were ordered by the judge to accompany his bailiff, Edward Spiering, to the county hospital and observe the sufferings of men, women and children whose bodies are racked with pain because of the carelessness of motorists.

From the hospital the personally conducted tour stepped over to the morgue where automobile speeders were compelled to look upon the bodies of two children who met death under the crushing weight of motor car wheels lost to control of the driver over them.

Must Suggest Remedies

When the vivid object lesson was thus driven into the minds of the offenders they were brought back to the court and paroled for one week. Judge Stelk asked each man to report back and give a version of his views on how automobiles should be driven in Chicago.

He asked each man to make a written report as to how he thinks automobile accidents might best be diminished in number. He believes the city council may find some ideas of value in the suggestions offered. Drastic measures have become necessary to curb speeders, Judge Stelk says, because the arrests recently have been only those men who have flagrantly violated the ordinances.

"The police have been so busy with riots and labor troubles they have not had time to bother with minor offenders," he said, "and the ones arrested now are serious law-breakers. I want to apply some curative treatment to these men, since many automobile owners obviously are not dealt a very heavy blow when they are fined."

"Gradually, however, our automobile drivers seem to have improved, and for this year the arrests for serious violations of the rules of driving do not equal the number for last year. Sending these men to look directly at the harrow of carelessness may possibly result in some moves that will improve traffic conditions for safety throughout the city. It seems that about everything else has been tried. Anything that makes the streets safer for us is worth trying out. I think."

REPORT U. S. ARMY IN
ARMENIA SOON

N.E.A. Special to The Sun.
PARIS, Aug. 20.—Paris believes that the United States is preparing to assume the mandatory for Armenia and Constantinople.

It expects the announcement to be made about October 1.

Paris bases this belief on the departure of General Harbord for Constantinople, with a staff of 16 officers and two guard companies.

Armenian delegates in Paris have been insisting that protection be given Armenians before official announcement of their separation from Turkey is made. They fear a general massacre if such protection is not given.

General Harbord is to return to Paris September 30. Six weeks in the near east would give the general and his staff time to arrange for the disposal of American troops before the peace settlement as to Turkey and Armenia is announced.

General Harbord, it is believed, will be in charge of the administrative forces in Armenia, if it is brought under American protection, and his task will be even more exacting than was the military administration of the Philippines.

General Harbord has been General Pershing's chief of staff in France.

NEW YORK.—Some contrast between this picture of the demonstration in honor of Prince Edward of Wales in 1860 and that which will be made of the reception of the present Prince of Wales upon his arrival in New York next month. A highpowered motor car instead of the quaint carriage here shown will be the vehicle at his disposal and planes, undreamed of in Edward's day, will circle overhead. We'll agree that the uniforms of a military escort of today are natter than those here pictured. Arrow points to Prince Edward.

CALIFORNIA FOR LEAGUE
STATE OFFICIAL SAYS

WASHINGTON, D. C.—If the people of California were to vote on the League of Nations, a majority would be cast for ratification, in the opinion of Frank C. Jordan, secretary of state for California, and one of the most popular officials that state has ever had.

Mr. Jordan, who is in Washington for a visit of a few days, is a republican and is now serving his tenth consecutive year as secretary of state, being re-elected the last time by a majority of more than 300,000.

The American people favor agreements to prevent future wars, Mr. Jordan said in a statement to a newspaper man after his arrival in the national capital, and will not approve of any partisan action that will again imperial civilization.

"The people of California are waiting until those for and against the league have fought the question out on the floor of the senate," said Mr. Jordan, who continued: "If a vote were taken in California today, it would be for ratification of the treaty. The American people favor agreements which will prevent wars in the future."

"They feel that the covenant will have such a force that nations will hesitate to attack when this agreement between nations is in existence. The good faith of the nation is pledged to the observance of its conditions, and that faith will not be lightly broken. Nations will hesitate to treat it as another 'scrap of paper'."

"America fought for civilization, and will not approve of any partisan action at this great moment which may imperil it again."

"America needs a League of Nations as well as England and France. There was a moment in the great conflict when the success of German arms meant possible disaster to our own land. The day has passed when America can take refuge in an attitude of selfish isolation."

President Wilson's labors in the interest of lasting peace entitle him to the gratitude of every peace-loving and fair-minded man, Mr. Jordan asserts.

"Critics of the president attempt to visualize the superman," said Mr. Jordan, "whereas Mr. Wilson is merely a virile American who has devoted all his powers of heart and brain for the upbuilding of what is intended to be a barrier against the forces of destruction. In that barrier points of weakness may develop, but what he has already done constitutes a restraining force which ought to make every American feel that the welfare of the people of all nations has been safeguarded for the future, and for this much Mr. Wilson deserves the gratitude of every fair-minded man."

H. C. L. WAR CALLS FOR
ARMY TRUCKS

By M. CLYDE KELLY

Congressman from Pennsylvania.

The motor transport service of the post office department may be made as important an agency in peace as the motor transport service of the United States army has been in war. The same ability and genius which made possible the service of supply in France will make possible an even greater success of the service of supply in America.

The motor transport service of the army can be used in this new service of peace.

Here is a practical way to guarantee to many thousands of returning soldiers useful employment, which will mean the welfare of the nation. Here is a program of constructive development which will be of permanent benefit not only to the veterans but to all the people.

Trunk Roads Part of Project

The operation of this direct marketing plan between organized communities will show very soon, also, the importance of permanent road construction. A system of great trunk highways, crossing the continent east and west and north and south, can be built and paid for largely out of the receipts of this motor transport service of the post office department. They would be post roads as intended by the constitution, and would be federal highways with connecting roads built by the states and local subdivisions.

No more important task could be undertaken by this government now, and it would furnish constructive employment to thousands of those who are returning from overseas with experience in road construction in France and Italy and Belgium.

Now that the war is over, the task of producing and distributing food economically holds its challenge. The high cost of living is a vital problem of peace.

Should Be Land of Bounty

People should live more cheaply in America than anywhere else on earth. We have unlimited resources; land enough to feed the world in abundance. We have not begun to crowd ourselves, for here there are only 31 persons to the square mile. France had 191, England 372 and the other European nations were generally as thickly populated.

But in spite of marvelous advantages, the prices of foodstuffs have been climbing steadily upward for years and have reached the point where many persons are unable to secure sufficient of these necessities to enable them to maintain proper physical condition. The consumer is obliged to pay a vastly too large proportion of his day's wage to secure these commodities of life.

America has never tried to solve this problem in constructive fashion. While banking, transportation, industry have been highly organized, the mighty business of producing and distributing the food of the nation has been left to blind chance.

Now let us try co-operation in the production and the distribution of food. The organization which has proved so effective in other lines will prove equally effective in this great work of feeding the people. The schoolhouses of America offer the logical centers for action, both in country and in city. Once the people realize the advantages, they will eagerly seize this opportunity for mutual benefit.

And connecting these communities, like veins and arteries of the body, carrying the life-giving currents to every part, should be the motor transport service of the post office department. It is a public service of the people, for the people and by the people.

SATURDAY ADVERTISING

A news story in The Sun last week described the success attending the experiment undertaken by certain Philadelphia stores in adopting a special advertising campaign in the Saturday issue of the Philadelphia afternoon papers.

It is probable that something along this line might be successfully undertaken in Lowell. No matter what may have been said in the past, the fact remains that the Saturday issue of The Sun is read by more people and at a time when more people have time to read, than is the case in any other issue of the week. Many instances are known where Lowell people are reading The Sun on Sunday when they might be supposed they would be reading a Sunday paper. One test of the value of Saturday advertising in The Sun would be to offer values to be advertised exclusively in The Sun and watch results in the Monday sales. Merchandising cannot be carried on by sports with allowance for the volume to be sold. Neither can advertising be carried on in that way. Stability of merchandising is the thing that counts for profits and it is stability and the steady punch of advertising that make steady merchandising possible. There really is no more excuse for not advertising on Saturday for Monday's business than there would be for closing all day Saturday. Six days merchandising, six days advertising. MOVING ON MEXICO

There will soon be something doing in Mexico besides making life miserable for Americans. Our troops are going to take a hand in dealing with the bandits which have been carrying on a sort of guerrilla warfare along the border for several years past. If the work has to be renewed now, it will probably be done so effectively that there will be no further bother for years to come from Mexican marauders.

On or about September 1, Carranza will present his annual message to the Mexican congress, the members of which at that time will be fully informed as to the diplomatic relations between his unstable country and the United States and England. With the usual amount of well-applied camouflage the Mexican president will endeavor to justify his policy.

The presenting of passports to the English consul will be branded as a "mistake" and the holding of two United States airmen for ransom an event "over which he had no control." He will deplore the ravages of bandit bands along the United States border and reconsecrate himself to the ardent task of suppressing uprisings and lawlessness.

Carranza has failed to convince the United States that he is sincere in his alleged efforts to maintain international peace and he may imagine that under present conditions with England and Japan in a friendly alliance and Japan the friend of Mexico, the United States cannot afford to insist that Mexico observe the conventionalities of civilized nations.

SENATOR WALSH'S SPEECH

United States Senator David I. Walsh made a decided hit in his maiden speech in the senate by demanding that both parties drop partisan bickering and unite in adopting some plan of dealing with the high cost of living so as to bring speedy relief to the people. While admitting the difficulty of solving the problem, he took the ground that if congress got busy in providing a remedy for the oppressive conditions, the people would be reassured and would, therefore, have more confidence in the government, and consequently be less easily led into radical movements for enforcing the demands of labor. The senator urged immediate action rather than reproaching his colleagues that in the ten days since the president's appeal, practically nothing had been done towards grappling with the high cost of living, due to a great extent, he claimed, to criminal profiteering. His appeal for non-partisan action was particularly opportune in view of the fact that already there is evidence that the republicans are planning to throw the entire responsibility for action to meet the high cost of living, upon President Wilson. Instead of continuing the food law which served so well during the war, and extending the licensing system, the republicans plan an amendment that will give the president full power to limit profits and prices by proclamation and to enforce his mandates through the department of justice.

Attorney General Palmer advised the retention of the licensing system by which the government could hold a restraining hand over profiteers without resorting to court procedure. He would have it applied to wearing apparel, and food-containers with a penalty clause added to cover violations.

The republicans accepted the suggestion of a penalty and have set out to provide a fine of $5000 or imprisonment for two years or both. With such a law, if things did not work out right, then the republicans would blame the president, claiming that they provided ample authority for the punishment of all offenders under the food law thus amended.

This is where the partisan animus comes in, and it is against such scheming that Senator Walsh appeals for prompt non-partisan action to meet the situation and bring the necessary relief. The Massachusetts senator is to be commended for his good judgment in selecting the psychological moment for making his appeal. Judging from the deference with which it was received, it will probably have the desired effect.

PREMIER GEORGE'S SPEECH

The speech of Premier Lloyd George, occupying three hours in delivery in the house of commons, may be regarded as a very important event in the work of British reconstruction, inasmuch as he dealt at great length with the financial, economic and industrial conditions of the country. He sounded a note of alarm that a balance of trade amounting to eight hundred million pounds stood against Great Britain at the present time. In view of this condition, he asserted that unless there is an increase in production and a decrease in imports the nation is face to face with economic ruin. His address throughout was largely political in its aims, appealing particularly to the Tory element in parliament, upon which he relies for the existence of the coalition ministry, in the face of opposition from the labor and liberal elements which brought him originally into prominence.

At several points in his speech Premier George threw out hints at the danger to the nation's business from American competition and to offset anything in the line of dumping foreign products upon the shores of Britain, special measures are to be provided after September 1 as substitutes for the war policy under which imports were admitted only under special licenses.

Premier Lloyd George favors the plan of having the government buy out the owners of mineral lands who are now receiving royalties from mine owners. In this way the government will secure at least partial control of coal mines and other mineral wealth throughout the country. The miners are to have a share in the control of the mines and are also to receive assistance in securing better living conditions than those under which they have been forced to exist in the past. Perhaps one of the most important recommendations made by the premier and the one that might be copied by our own government is that for an industrial council of employers and employees, to deal with industrial disputes.

The premier charged the United States with responsibility for delay in making peace with Turkey and this was put forth as a justification for Britain's course in occupying territory formerly under the Sultan of Turkey. He asked pointedly how far the United States was prepared to assume her share in guaranteeing protection to the people released from Turkish sway, thus intimating that England is reluctantly occupying certain portions of the Turkish dominions, something that Americans knowing England's antecedents cannot swallow. He declared that England is ready to reduce her armaments as soon as the other powers show a willingness to do so as proof of their good faith in the League of Nations. This at least indicates a strong desire on the part of England to see the league covenant adopted by all the leading powers.

Apparently the premier purposely ignored the Irish question as one not entering into the serious affairs of the government, or, are we to assume that he is beginning to agree with those who hold that this is an international question and not one of the domestic problems of Great Britain? Those who have been watching the course of affairs in Ireland and England's treatment of the whole problem for the past 30 years, however, can easily realize how much of a benefit it would be to England to have this question satisfactorily settled. But the British premier, addressing himself to the Tories, evidently did not dare to offer any solution, realizing that if he did so, he would incur the deadly enmity of that element and also of the unionists of Ulster to whose wishes he seems to bow with obsequious deference.

BOSTON POLICE UNION

The Boston Police commissioner has a difficult problem on his hands in the organization of the men of his department as a labor union and their affiliation with the American Federation of Labor. In forming a branch of the federation, the men have violated the conditions under which they entered the service so that for this reason they could not complain if they were summarily dealt with by their superior officer.

When the members of a police department join a labor union, it is assumed that they will be involved in various labor troubles which will interfere with them in the impartial discharge of their duties. It would also destroy the discipline that is so necessary to a successful police department. Besides it is to be presumed that should the police union make a demand of any kind, refusal might be followed by a strike. The condition of a city like Boston may well be imagined if its policemen were all on strike. The city would be a prey to all kinds of criminals.

No city can take the risk of any such situation. We do not know how Commissioner Curtis is to deal with the problem, but as it is his business to provide proper police protection, we presume he will do so. Senator Curran and ex-Congressman Deming have played the part of demagogues in coming out to denounce Commissioner Curtis, comparing him to a Prussian despot and charging him with depriving the men of the right of collective bargaining. This charge as far as we can see is not justified. The men might organize within their department, but their rules forbid them to join any outside organization. Should the Boston police succeed in forming a labor union and overriding the commissioner, then the police of every other city in the country might follow their example. What the result might be in some cities such as Chicago, may well be imagined. The whole matter presents a problem which concerns every city in the country, as affecting the discipline of the men hired to maintain law and order within their jurisdiction. For this reason the outcome of the Boston controversy will be watched with great interest throughout the country.

If the whole question can be passed upon by the courts, it will be better for all concerned and particularly for the interests of the commonwealth in upholding the sanctity of sworn contracts.

The report of the disbursements by the Knights of Columbus in the war activities of that organization shows that more than $7,000,000 was spent for free cigarettes, pipes, beef cubes, candies and other comforts for the soldiers; that the $166,616 spent for administration purposes was more than covered by discounts for the prompt payment of merchandise bills. This is highly creditable to the directors in charge of the work as well as to the loyalty and honesty of the corps of secretaries employed. The reports of the camp sports, motion picture shows and various other entertainments of a social and educational character, indicate that the Knights of Columbus left nothing undone in their efforts to help the soldiers and to maintain a high morale throughout the forces of all classes, often under circumstances where such assistance was of the most vital importance.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

One afternoon recently I felt I had a few hours off, and being undecided how to spend that time, I cranked up the flywheel and headed for the west out through Chelmsford and Littleton. At Littleton Common I saw a road that turned to the left and again to the right, on which I was told were some beautiful fruit farms. Being a lover of all such products, I inquired who owned a certain farm about half a mile out from the Common and was informed that the proprietor was Mr. P. H. Priest, who makes a specialty of apples and peaches for the Boston market. It was a beautiful sight to look over the orchards loaded with the fruit that will be ready for market in a short time—rosy-cheeked peaches that reminded me of an old song, dedicated to a fair maiden which contained these words, "Ripe as a peach, who will reach for me?" As for apples, there could be found all the varieties, the snow apple, Macintosh red, Hubbardston's and New England's best of all, the Baldwin. The thought came to me, what monarch could be happier than the tiller of the soil who produces such bounteous crops, knowing that after he gets a fair profit his products go to the public for which they are both food and medicine.

Polo fans in Lowell and the other cities in the American Roller Polo league will be glad to welcome Bill Duggan and Duke Dufresne back to the fold this season and these two star players are bound to get a great reception when they hop onto the playing surface. Both saw service overseas in the American army, Duggan going across shortly after the season of 1917-1918 closed, while a few months later Dufresne was called to the colors. While overseas both took part in many battles and performed heroically. Duggan and Dufresne are among the leaders of their respective positions. Few rushes in the game can compare with Duggan and when it comes to playing a defensive position, the "Duke" is among the high class performers. Duggan, it is expected, will be with Lawrence this coming season, while Dufresne is slated for a managerial berth. Both have a great many friends and admirers in Lowell and it looks like a "big night" when they come here for their first games of the season.

If you want an up-to-date example of rejuvenation, take a walk up to the city solicitor's office at city hall and see what a few days' work by painters and kalsominers can do to brighten up the interior of a business office. Although there is plenty of light afforded this particular office by three large windows, nevertheless, the contrast between its present appearance and that of a few weeks ago, is so marked as to give the impression that another window had been broken through the wall. The office has been re-painted from top to bottom, a new bookcase has been installed and to add a finishing touch, the windows have been thoroughly cleaned. Accordingly, the city's legal department has every material inducement for snick and span administration of its duties.

SENATE X-RAYS LEAGUE PLAN

Sun Gives Digest of Facts and Problems Discussed by President and Senators

Wilson Does Not Claim he Evolved Plan for World Peace, Credits Gen. Smuts

The exchange of questions and answers yesterday at the White House was marked, as the editorial comments of nearly all the papers show, by a spirit of friendliness, co-operation, earnestness and informality, between the president and a number of men heretofore bitter verbal assailants of his.

The historic discussion stands in one respect, out of many that could be discussed, as a thorough investigation of the League of Nations plan—the best informed man on the subject in America, the president, answering in full, all questions put to him by the group of men in whose provinces and power it may be said, quick ratification and resumption of world progress stands.

No U. S. Troops to Guard Outlanders President Wilson declared it imposed no legal obligation for the use of American military force in protecting the territory or independence of any other nation.

But he added that the covenant might involve, in certain circumstances an "absolutely compelling moral obligation" which might be even stronger than a legal promise. Pressed for a more exact definition by committee members who insisted that the whole arrangement was "a rope of sand," he asserted that on the contrary he considered it as placing the nation in "an attitude of comradeship and protection," which would compel respect for the principles of justice and liberty.

Only Congress to Call War Article 10 of the covenant, guaranteeing the integrity of league members against aggression, he declared would leave to each nation "complete freedom of choice as to the application of force." Even if the American representative on the council joined in a unanimous recommendation for military action, the final decision for peace or war must rest, so far as concerned the United States, with congress, he said.

Whatever advice the council gave under its authority to take such action as is "deemed appropriate" must also be deemed appropriate by the United States to be binding on this government, he argued, though in the background would be such a potential moral force that he doubted if the nation would often decline to act.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Below is what the press agents of the different theatres say of the current attractions and of others to come:

THE STRAND

The ever mysterious and baffling activities of the Secret Service—the silent power which is the watch dog and guardian of the country against treachery and espionage is the chief element in the latest Harold Lockwood picture, "Shadows of Suspicion," which will be shown for the last time today at The Strand. See it. It's great. Then Earle Williams, another big screen favorite, in "The Hornet's Nest," is a picture taken from Mrs. Wilson Woodrow's novel, that offers many possibilities for the star. The song numbers by Ted Leary, and the comedy and weekly are excellent additions to the program. Tomorrow Florence Reed in "The Woman Under the Gate" and Emmy Wehlen in "The Belle of the Season" will be the big features. Don't forget the pony contest. The youngsters are going wild over it. The contestants are entering the home stretch, and the leaders are going neck and neck.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

The ninth season of vaudeville will be opened at the B. F. Keith theatre on Monday, Aug. 25. As ever, vaudeville will be the mainstay of the bills and it may be of interest to know that the prices which prevailed during the last season will be the same during the coming season. Manager Pickett has spared no pains to secure bookings of acts which are of the style which Lowell audiences demand, and that means that practically all of the high class attractions now under contract to the Keith theatres will be seen in this city. Those who have made a specialty of vaudeville in past seasons and who have had special days or nights to attend the weekly bills, may secure their favorite seats beginning tomorrow—Thursday. Tomorrow, also, the seat sale for the opening week will open. For the opening week, it may be stated, there will be an extraordinary bill, with a super-attraction. This has been secured at great expense.

BAY STATE'S CRISIS GRAVE

Trustees Remind Carmen
They Promised to Accept
Arbitration Decree

Important Message From Detroit Headquarters on Situation Expected Today

BOSTON, Aug. 20.—There seems to be little if any probability that the threatened strike of the employees of the Bay State street railway system can be avoided, according to the union leaders. Evidently they are taking it for granted that the men will vote to strike at their special meetings to-night and are making plans with that in view.

James H. Vahey, counsel for the Bay State Carmen's union, wired the officers of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America at Detroit yesterday afternoon and notified General President W. D. Mahon that the situation here on the Bay State system is so serious that immediate action is called for.

Men Defiant

This telegram was sent because the officers of the Bay State Carmen's union have not received any replies to previous communications and telegrams sent Mr. Mahon by them, some of them urging him to come to Boston himself as quickly as possible. Although Mr. Vahey would not say what his telegram said, he would not deny that it declared that the Bay State system employees are so displeased with the recent award of the war labor board that they are in a mood to strike at once, irrespective of what the international officers may decide.

Today there will be a special meeting of the full joint conference board of the 15 local unions on the system at the Quincy House. The whole situation will be discussed and plans made for the board members to carry out when they address tonight's meeting of the different locals.

company must pay out $1,000,000 additional in wages this year.

Disaster Ahead

"With arbitration agreements nauted and the sacredness of the solemn promise gone between employer and employee the industrial world would be headed towards disaster. The public trustees have obeyed all arbitration awards, even when they believed that the decisions were against the weight of evidence. Without hesitation they re-instated a Lawrence motorman suspended on a charge of alleged intoxication. They also countermanded an order directing that the photographs of employees, paid for by the company, must appear on free passes.

"The public trustees and the union cannot consider only themselves in the matter. Bigger and greater than either the company or its employees is the travelling public.

Patrons' Right to Service

"Our patrons have the right to expect service, and it is our joint duty to furnish it. But this cannot be done if either of us, whenever dissatisfied with an arbitration award, forthwith proceed to violate its terms and tie up our line. Public sympathy is never with the party in a labor dispute which deliberately breaks its word and tramples upon arbitration agreements.

"We call upon every fair-minded employee to co-operate with us in protecting the public from such an outrage as the willful repudiation of the award."

ENJOYABLE OUTING

Through the efforts of Mrs. Julian B. Keyes, 35 Greek girls, members of the Phi Alpha club of the International Institute, were able to spend last Sunday at the seashore. For some of the girls this was their first trip to the beach and their appreciation and enjoyment may easily be imagined. In addition to Mrs. Keyes, the following Lowell people loaned automobiles for the journey: Mrs. T. W. Crocker, Tyler Stevens, E. J. Hyman, Frank H. Putnam, Will Howe and Mrs. Fred Coburn. All of the girls went bathing and got every bit of pleasure possible out of the day.

The International Institute will be the centre of many Americanization activities during the coming fall and winter. Mrs. Keyes is serving as recreational director of the club, but several more volunteer workers will be needed in the recreational, English and vocational departments.

HONOR "ACRE" HEROES TOMORROW NIGHT

The stage is all set for the big welcome home reception to the fighting sons of the "Acre" tomorrow night, plans for the affair being completed at a largely attended meeting held at the Broadway Social and Athletic club last evening. The program has been carefully arranged and includes many features that, those in charge expect, will go to make the reception one of the most enjoyable events in the history of the city.

The business men and residents of the "Acre" as well as many prominent men throughout the city have co-operated with the Broadway club members in the undertaking and now all that remains to insure the success of the affair is good weather.

The streets in the vicinity of the Broadway club, the club building, and the lot across the street, where the exercises will be held, have been beautifully decorated for the occasion. All the telephone poles along Broadway are covered with the national colors, while business establishments and residences also are adorned with red, white and blue bunting.

The reception will be held in the evening, but in the afternoon an entertainment for the children of the neighborhood will be provided. All details were thoroughly mapped out at last night's meeting. James F. Heslin, chairman of the general committee in charge presided over the meeting. After all preliminary matters and reports of committees had been passed upon a roster of the parade and celebration was made out. It follows:

The parade is to form on the North common at 7 p. m. and will cover the following route: Cross street, to Suffolk street, to Broadway, to Adams street, on to Fletcher street, again to Broadway and School street, counting marching to the headquarters of the event, the Broadway club.

FIRST DIVISION

CONVENTION OF C. Y. M. N. U.

OPENS AT NEW YORK

ON SATURDAY

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The coming national convention of the Catholic Young Men's National Union at the Hotel Vanderbilt, New York, on August 23 and 24, is expected to exert a profound influence on the future trend of secular Catholic activity in the United States.

The gathering, which will be the first of its kind held since the end of the war, will for that reason if no other, be of the first importance, and its discussions and deliberations will be followed with interest by progressive Catholic leaders everywhere.

The old antebellum problems are not now alone in their demand for their attention from those who have made Catholic social upliftment their life work. Those problems are linked with others begotten of wartime conditions, and their joint insistence upon attention will fully tax the mental resources of both lay and clerical Catholic leaders.

In proportion, if the already expressed intention of the several hundred units in the National Union of Catholic Young Men's Clubs are carried out, the convention will far surpass any previously held.

Members of the clergy whose opinions have always borne weight in the councils of the church, and prominent laymen who have long been active in Catholic social work, will participate in the discussions during the two-day convention, and addresses will be delivered by men of national and international reputation who have made an exhaustive study of present religious and social conditions.

Practically every club in the greater centres of Catholic secular activity will be fully represented at the conference, and many of the Catholic clubs in the smaller cities and towns. While Philadelphia, New York, Brooklyn and Boston will contribute the strongest delegations, word has been received by the national president of the A. C. Y. M. N. U., Mr. Michael at national headquarters from clubs in widely scattered parts of the country to the effect that representatives will be sent to the national convention.

JOHN MCCORMACK TO ESTABLISH BIG STABLE OF THOROUGH-BRED CATTLE

BOSTON, Aug. 20.—John McCormack, the Irish tenor, paid $10,000 for a thoroughbred Guernsey cow at the Oak farm, Scituate, yesterday and named it Eileen. Two hours later Eileen gave birth to a heifer and had the singer so desirous he could have sold the young cow for $2000.

McCormack is going to establish a big stable of thoroughbred cattle. His initial buy at the Oak farm, which is owned by C. W. Barron, cost him $10,000 for his herd of Guernseys. The cows will be shipped today to the McCormack farm in Roton, Conn.

McCormack will make his debut as an exhibitor at the cattle show at the Boston fair, Readville, Sept. 25, 26 and 27. Immediately after he purchased the herd he gave Gen. Hugh Bancroft his entries for the Guernsey classes.

As a pleasant, somewhat thrilling and decidedly novel incident of a recent automobile trip through the northern part of New England, which included a tour of the White mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pitts of this city embraced an opportunity to take an airplane flight of several minutes' duration. Aside from the initial sensation of leaving the ground and subsequent realization that they were actually being driven through space, neither of the Lowell persons experienced any feelings of uneasiness, in fact they thoroughly enjoyed it.

Doctor Tells How to Detect Harmful Effects of Tobacco

Try These SIMPLE TESTS

New York: Doctor Connor, formerly of Johns Hopkins hospital, says: "Many men who smoke, chew or snuff incessantly and who are seemingly healthy are suffering from progressive organic ailments. Thousands of them would never have been afflicted had it not been for the use of tobacco, and thousands would soon get well if they would only stop the use of tobacco. The chief habit forming principle of tobacco is nicotine, a deadly poison which, when absorbed by the system slowly affects the nerves, membranes, tissues and vital organs of the body. The harmful effect of tobacco varies and depends on circumstances. One will be afflicted with general debility, others with catarrh of the throat, indigestion, constipation, extreme nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of memory, lack of will power, mental confusion, etc. Others may suffer from heart disease, bronchial trouble, hardening of the arteries, tuberculosis, blindness or even cancer of the common affliction known as tobacco heart. If you use tobacco in any form you can easily detect the harmful effects by making the following simple tests. Read aloud one full page from a book. If, in the course of reading your throat is affected by catarrh and it may be the beginning of more serious trouble. Next, in the morning before taking your usual smoke, walk up three flights of stairs at a regular pace, then stop. If you find that you are out of breath, your heart beat is forced, trembling or irregular, you may be a victim of functional or organic heart trouble. If you feel that you must smoke, chew or snuff to quiet your nerves, you are a slave to the tobacco habit, and are positively poisoning yourself with the deadly drug, nicotine. In either case you have just two alternatives—keep on with the self-poisoning process irrespective of the dangers and suffer the consequences, or give up the habit and escape the dangers. You can overcome the craving and stop the habit in a very short time by using the following inexpensive formula. Go to any drug store and ask for Nicotol tablets, take one tablet after each meal, and in a comparatively short time you will have no desire for tobacco, the craving will have left you. With the nicotine poison out of your system your general health will quickly improve.

Note—When asked about Nicotol tablets, one of our leading druggists said: "It is truly a wonderful remedy for the tobacco habit, away ahead of anything we have ever sold before. We are authorized by the manufacturers to refund the money to every dissatisfied customer, and we would not permit the use of our name unless the remedy possessed unusual merit." Nicotol tablets are sold in this city under an iron-clad money-back guarantee by all up-to-date druggists, including A. W. Tew and Routhier & Deltale. —A. W. Tew

IMPORTS OF SUGAR PRE-VENT SHORTAGE

WASHINGTON, D. C.—With a fleet of 100 ships bringing in cargoes approximating 200,000 tons of sugar from Cuba within two weeks, the sugar equalization board of the food administration declares a sugar shortage has been forestalled. In addition, 20,000 tons of beet sugar have been procured from California. The sugar demand this year has been at least 200,000 tons greater than at the same time in 1918, it is said.

Denial has been made by the board of statements that canners had been unduly favored in the distribution of army sugar. Five hundred thousand pounds of the 15,000,000 pounds released by the army was allocated to New York City alone, and proportionate distribution was made throughout the rest of the country. The needs of the canneries were supplied, otherwise millions of dollars worth of fruit on hand would have spoiled, but there has been no unjust favoritism.

Unprecedented demand, largely through the manufacture of greater quantities of syrups, soft drinks, sugars and candies in the present prohibition period, and the failure of dealers to order in time are the two principal reasons assigned by the board for the present stringency.

CIVIL SERVICE JOBS ARE OPEN TO MEN OF ARMY AND NAVY

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Under a special ruling of the civil service commission, examinations for all civil service positions under the federal government, held since the United States entered the war in 1917, will be thrown open again to soldiers and sailors. Men who were in the army, the navy or the marine corps during the war, no matter where they served, may make application up to October 1, 1919, to take any examination held in the past two and a half years.

The one exception is for first, second and third class postmasterships, where the appointment has already been filled. Men not yet discharged from service will be given a 60-day period of grace after their discharge during which they may file applications for examination. Examinations may also be taken by men now in service. Appointments will be made on the results of examinations, except in the case of those held for positions which no longer exist.

All civilian attaches of the army, the navy or the marine corps are barred from these particular privileges, but field clerks, members of the Student Army Training Corps and enlisted army and navy nurses will be admitted on the same basis as the men in service.

FLYING EXHIBITIONS AUTHORIZED
WASHINGTON, D. C.—Authorization for lending of aircraft for exhibition flights is being granted the director of air service by the war department with the object of assisting in staging aerial spectacles for state and county fairs, municipal and other celebrations. Under the proposed plan the local authorities would have to defray all expenses incurred in such exhibitions.

WHERE'LL THEY BURY JOHN D?
CLEVELAND — Clevelanders are wondering if John D. Rockefeller is going to carry his feud with Cleveland even to the grave. Rockefeller has an imposing monument on a plot in Forest Hill cemetery where members of the Rockefeller family lie. But dispatches tell of the burial of Andrew Carnegie near the Rockefeller lot. In Tarrytown cemetery. Now, Clevelanders ask, isn't John D.'s last resting place to be in Forest Hill? Rockefeller moved his residence from Cleveland in high duce because he objected to the inroads tax assessors made on his income.

MISS RENEE ADOREE, WHO INTRODUCES "THE ROCKER" TO AMERICA

MUST KNOW THE ROCKER, TO DANCE WITH PRINCE

N.E.A. Special to The Sun.
NEW YORK, August — Girls in New York who hope to receive an invitation to the ball to be given by the Prince of Wales on board the British battleship "Renown," which will be the prince's home during his visit here, are learning the steps of "The Rocker," the latest London dance.

This dance, which has just been approved by a convention of English dancing masters, has been the craze in London this summer, according to Miss Renee Adoree, of "Oh, What a Girl!" company, recently returned from London, and the first American girl to introduce "The Rocker" into this country.

"The Prince of Wales" says Miss Adoree, "is as proficient in the rocker as he is in the fox-trot. The steps of the rocker are extremely simple. "You start off by rocking three times from side to side, glide into the fox trot, then into a few waltz steps and start over again with the rocking. It is a graceful dance, and even less strenuous than the fox-trot."

"The Prince of Wales is considered a good partner by the girls with whom he has danced. In choosing his partners he is the most unselfish young man to be seen in any ballroom. He shows no favoritism."

MILLIONS FOR ROAD BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D. C.—The department of agriculture is planning the expenditure of the $275,000,000 granted it by congress to improve and construct rural post roads throughout the country. This will be apportioned among states on the basis of area, population, and mileage of rural delivery and star mail routes. An additional $19,000,000 will be distributed by the department to construct or improve roads or trails in national parks and forests.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

Plans for Morey School Approved—Miss Groves Organizes Special Classes

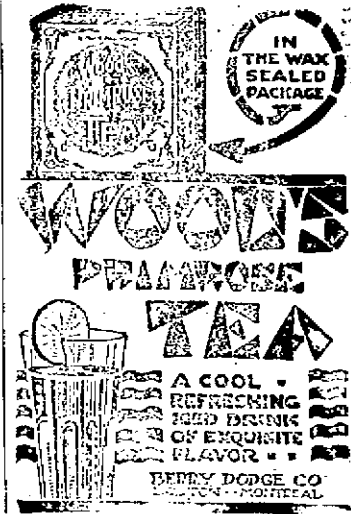

Plans for a 11-room addition to the Morey school were formally approved by the school committee, at a special meeting last evening. There was no discussion. The committee also voted to appoint Miss Vera D. Groves organizer of special classes for the schools, on motion of Dr. Thompson, seconded by Mr. Crowley. It was stated that an act of the legislature made it imperative that special classes be organized. Messrs. Walsh and Keyes opposed the appointment, but it was carried, 3 to 2.

FOOD SALES AT NO. CHELMSFORD

North Chelmsford folks are taking advantage of the government sale of surplus foodstuffs through the parcel post, and Postmaster Dunigan has received a list of orders for the various canned goods which Uncle Sam is disposing of at much less than the prices asked in the stores and markets. Postmaster Dunigan will forward the orders to the army supply depot at South Boston, but purchasers must call for their orders at the post-office when the goods are received, as no deliveries will be made.

INJUNCTION CASE

NOT DECIDED

Pleadings to be Concluded
September 2—Stipulations
Agreed Upon

Boston Man to be Appointed by Judge Lawton to Hear
Case

The petition of the Federal Shoe Co. of this city for an injunction to restrain members of the Allied Shoe Workers' union, also of this city, from interfering with the company's business by so-called "picket duty" and other actions of the same nature, came before Judge Lawton in the court of equity, Boston, yesterday, and after arguments by counsel on both sides, stipulations were agreed upon by both parties governing the action of the strikers pending a decision on the petition.

Judge Lawton said that he would appoint a master to hear the case not later than Sept. 2.

Edward J. Tierney of the firm of Farley & Tierney represented the shoe company and Daniel J. Donahue of the firm of Donahue & Donahue, the union.

The opposing lawyers could not come to an agreement on the appointment of a master and the matter was left to the court. The latter said a Boston man would be appointed.

The stipulations agreed upon by both sides were as follows:

"In the above entitled action it is hereby stipulated that until further order of the court the defendants and each of them shall refrain from interfering with the complainant's business by intimidating, threatening, annoying or hindering any person now or hereafter in the employ of complainant, or desirous of entering same, from remaining therein or entering the same, from congregating in squads near the plaintiff's premises for the purpose of annoying or hindering plaintiff's employees, from unlawfully hindering or enticing persons now in the employ of the plaintiff to leave the same. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the defendants from peaceful persuasion as established by law."

The petition of the complainants seeks to restrain the respondents from interfering with the plaintiff's business by intimidating, threatening, annoying or hindering any person now or hereafter in the employment of the complainant or desirous of entering the same. It also seeks to restrain the respondents from congregating in squads in the vicinity of the complainant's premises and from establishing picket lines or causing others to congregate or picket or patrol in the vicinity of said premises, obstructing, annoying, interfering with or intimidating any person or persons who are now or may hereafter be in the employment of the complainant or in proceeding to and from their places of abode and said premises or in remaining peaceably in their places of abode or pursuing their respective ways about the streets after working hours; from maliciously inducing or enticing any person now or hereafter in the employment of the complainant to leave the same; from reporting the complainant as "unfair" or placing or keeping the name of the complainant upon any unfair list, so-called; from interfering with any of the complainant's business by any scheme or design among themselves or with others organized for the purpose of interfering with or injuring the complainant's business by intimidating, annoying or obstructing persons now or hereafter in their employment or desirous of entering the same, or by any other means.

GERMAN INDEMNITY

New Bill Aims to Meet Financial Responsibilities Payable to Allies

BERLIN, Tuesday, Aug. 19.—(By the Associated Press)—A bill providing ways and means for carrying out the peace terms was presented before the National Assembly at Weimar, Monday, with the approval of the imperial council. It is a far-reaching measure the purpose of which is to set definite limits and establish control of all sorts of activities in commerce, finance and industries bearing on the means of meeting the responsibilities laid upon Germany by the conditions of peace.

It empowers the government for instance, to demand and enforce industrial, mercantile and forest work closely concerned with the work of paying indemnities. The government is authorized to demand information about wages and material and may inspect the books, papers and business documents of firms, as well as fix prices, adjust labor conditions and supervise the efficiency of industrial equipment. It also imposes penalties up to three years' imprisonment and a fine of 50,000 marks for illegal payments of money.

NEW JERSEY IS HUNTING

HOARDED FOOD

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 20.—A systematic canvass of every cold storage warehouse in the state to determine whether food is being hoarded, has been undertaken by inspectors of the state board of health. It was announced today. Sealers of weights and measures have been asked to co-operate in the investigation.

Already the Barnegat Power & Cold Storage Co. and the Bay State Fish Co. of Boston, have been summoned before the state department of health on Friday to show cause why 77,000 pounds of fish, which has been in storage for over a year should not be destroyed as unfit to eat. The fish would begin to decompose as soon as exposed to the outer air, officials said.

Union from the point of view of the public interest. It would relieve the interstate commerce commission of all functions except rate regulation, valuation and accounting.

In regulating rates the commission would act upon certification by the board from time to time of the amount of revenues needed by a railroad to pay operating expenses and a "fair return" on the value of its properties and maintain credit sufficient to attract new capital necessary for the expansion of facilities. It was believed, Mr. Cuyler said, the railroads should have from $700,000,000 to $1,000,000,000 of new capital annually for expansion of facilities to meet the growth of population and industry.

The proposed board also would have authority to distribute traffic when necessary to relieve congestion on certain lines, to require the use of joint terminals when in the public interest, and in times of national emergency, to consolidate all lines into a unified system. It also was recommended that congress authorize the consolidation of existing lines into strong, competitive systems, when considered to be in the public interest.

The association recommended, Mr. Cuyler said, a great unification of public regulation of the railroads by broadening national control. It believed, he said, there should be exclusive national control of the issue of securities and the expenditure of new capital. Provision for federal incorporation of interstate carriers also was advocated.

"To avoid the risk of financial disaster," upon return of the roads to private operation, Mr. Cuyler said the railway executives believed it necessary that the guaranteed standard return from the government be continued until it was possible to "restore the equilibrium between revenues and expenses" and make the carriers again self-supporting. It was proposed that this readjustment of rates be undertaken by the interstate commerce commission in consultation with the director general of railroads and the proposed federal transportation board.

By way of further financial relief for the road upon resumption of private operation, it was advocated that their indebtedness to the government on account of capital expenditures made during the period of government control be funded for 10 years.

35,000 GREEKS BEG AID LIEUT. HUGH L. GARRITY AGAINST BANDITS

SALONIKI, Aug. 20.—Delegates claiming to represent 35,000 Greeks living in the Ardahan district in the Caucasus, according to the Athens news agency, have telegraphed the peace conference at Paris an appeal for allied protection against bandits and the Turkish military who they asserted have pillaged the country and massacred Greek inhabitants. The despatch was quoted as saying these forces operated from a base at Erzerum. The despatch directed attention to the fact that the people in the Ardahan district already had suffered severely during the war because of the Turkish and Russian operations there.

Lowell friends of Lieut. Hugh L. Garrity of 445 Chalmers street, welcomed him home yesterday after two years and two months of work in the United States army. His long term of service has been fraught with signal success and accomplishment, for he worked his way from the bottom of the ladder to an officer's commission.

A former O. M. I. Cadet, Lieut. Garrity enlisted in the medical reserve corps at Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont,

on June 13, 1917. A promotion to the grade of corporal in the medical corps came on Dec. 28 of that year and on Feb. 23, 1918 he stepped up to the rank of sergeant. He was made a first class sergeant in June, 1918 and while at Camp Devens in August was commissioned a lieutenant in the sanitary corps.

Shortly after that he received orders which took him to Fort Porter, Buffalo, N. Y., where he first served as mess officer at general hospital No. 4. His other duties at Fort Porter included, assistant to the commanding officer, personnel adjutant, post exchange officer, director of posts and in charge of providing amusement and recreation for the enlisted men. All these posts he filled with characteristic success.

monwealth by 5 p. m. yesterday, if Mr. Longley intended to have his name on the ballot. His withdrawal leaves the three original candidates for the county commissionership in the field, Smith J. Adams, Erson B. Barlow and Frank W. Colburn. Charles H. Abbott, another Lowell man who took out papers for this office, announced his withdrawal earlier in the week.

These papers should have been in the office of the secretary of the commissioner, will not appear on the ballot at the state primaries September 23, owing to the fact that Mr. Longley did not file his nomination papers yesterday, the last day for such action. In Lowell Mr. Longley succeeded in getting 139 names on his nomination papers and these are now reposing in the office of City Clerk Flynn.

NOT THE LARGEST STORE, BUT THE GREATEST VALUES

Will open the doors of its new store in a few days. Then Lowell will see the tangible results of the work of this new organization of skilled business people—tangible results in the form of a thousand things that have been collected to meet the wishes and needs of the future patrons of this store.

All the departments, filled with new merchandise, will offer interesting hours of inspection as well as hundreds of suggestions, not to speak of many opportunities of economical purchasing for the men or women folks.

To Look or To Buy, You Will Always Be Welcome

THE ORGANIZATION

Of this new store is one that is thoroughly conversant with the needs of the public. Every member is well known to the buying public, having catered to their needs for many years, and is recognized as an expert in his or her line by both the purchaser and the manufacturer. The head of every department has taken a personal interest in selecting merchandise that will be pleasing, distinctive and thoroughly reliable. It is quite unusual to find such an assemblage of expert merchandisers. Nowhere in Lowell will this force of salespeople be surpassed.

Wait for the Opening of this New Store

SURVIVES OVER
6000 VOLTS*Lowell Man Has Miraculous
Escape From Electrocution
at Bridgeport*John Reilly Lives After 6600
Volts, Enough to Kill Three
Men, Pass Through Body

John Reilly, formerly of 32 Chapel street, this city, and a brother of Joseph M. Reilly, recently discharged from the United States army where he served as a lieutenant, has had the unique experience of surviving after 6600 volts of electricity had passed through his body, according to information received by his relatives here. Ordinarily, 2000 volts are sufficient to kill a person.

The accident happened recently in Bridgeport, Conn., where Mr. Reilly is employed by the United Illuminating Co. He was making repairs to one of the company's lines and as much as the power was shut off, he did not wear rubber gloves. In the course of his work he completed a circuit of the live wires, the current coursed through his body and he was thrown to the ground, unconscious.

The power was shut off and the Lowell man was given first aid until the arrival of the ambulance. He was removed to St. Vincent's hospital, Bridgeport, and a few hours later had fully recovered. With the exception of slight burns on one hand and one of the toes of his right foot, he escaped unharmed.

Experts from all over the country, upon hearing of the unusual accident, visited Mr. Reilly and the interest in his unprecedented recovery was most marked. The low amperage, or strength of the current, is said to have saved his life, but this does not lessen the fact that 6600 volts passed through his body, or more than three times the number ordinarily sufficient to cause a person's death.

Reilly, who is only 21 years old, left this city about five years ago and during the war period was employed by a naval construction concern in Bridgeport. He is well known here especially in the South End section of the city.

GOB HOOKS LONDON KEYBad Bluejacket and Flu, Sure Made Trouble Enough for Lieut. Hodges

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The key to the front door of the Mansion House in London, recovered recently at Camp Devens, Mass., in the baggage of Lieut. Ira I. Hodges of Brooklyn, was stolen at an entertainment for American wounded by a sailor who was caught in the act and sent the key to the officers' hotel, Lieut. Hodges said today.

The lieutenant explained that soon after the key was sent in, he was stricken with influenza and forgot to return the key, which later was packed into his bedding-roll by the porter of his hotel. The bedding-roll, he added, was mislaid and only recently recovered.

Lieut. Hodges denied a report that the key was offered Gen. Pershing as a symbol of the freedom of the city on the occasion of his visit to London. The officer asserted also that another key found in his belongings had been purchased by him at a curiosity shop.

Over Signing Peace Treaty
With Germany

PEKING, Sunday, Aug. 17.—(By the Associated Press)—A mandate declaring war with Germany at an end will not be issued until the treaty with Austria is signed, it was announced today. In the meantime, the government is considering what measures will be taken when the mandate is issued, such as whether Germans will continue to enjoy the right of extra territoriality.

The government, it is declared, is still determined not to sign the German treaty. No decision has yet been reached as to the Chinese attitude toward proposals for mediation regarding the signing of the German treaty. The government, it is added, is determined not to negotiate with Japan concerning the peace treaty.

PLAN OF LEAGUE*Borah and Johnson Find

trine, Article X, Home Matters, Right to Quit League

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—With many facts developed at yesterday's conference with President Wilson before it, the senate foreign relations committee today was ready to resume consideration of the peace treaty. J. C. Ferguson, an authority on far eastern affairs, had been called to testify before the committee relative to Shantung, and related questions.

The only expressions of opinion today as to the conference, were from Senators Borah, and Johnson, California, republicans, who in a joint statement set forth the facts developed at the conference as they viewed it and declared that these facts showed that the position they had maintained "in respect to this covenant of the League of Nations is justified and confirmed."

Four reservations on the League of Nations covenant, are embodied in a separate resolution prepared today by Senator Pittman of Nevada, a democratic member of the foreign relations committee, for introduction in the senate.

Senator Pittman said the reservations had not been submitted to the president. They are similar to those proposed by a group of seven republican senators and deal with the right of withdrawal from the league, Article X, domestic questions and the Monroe doctrine.

Senator Pittman said the resolution was in line with the suggestion made to the foreign relations committee yesterday by President Wilson that if reservations are to be made, they should be embodied in a separate resolution and not in the resolution of the senate.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 20.—Thomas J. O'Donoghue of Lowell, Mass., and another man, both laborers at the Aberdeen proving grounds, were blown to pieces and five men were seriously injured yesterday, when a box of experimental super-sensitive 36-millimeter shells, which was being carried by the two men killed, exploded.

May Be War Veteran

There is no Thomas J. O'Donoghue listed in the Lowell directory and the families of that name do not know of any man of the name mentioned in the foregoing dispatch. The nearest person answering the description is Thomas J. Donohoe, son of Mrs. Delia Donohoe of 21 State street. Mr. Donohoe has been away from home for the past week and when he left he told his mother that he was going out of town looking for work. She has not heard from him since. Donohoe is a veteran of the world war and served 18 months in France with Company M of the 101st regiment. He is an only child and his father, the late Peter Donohoe, was well known as a police officer at Lakeview. He died several years ago.

FUNERAL OF ALEXANDER
G. CUMNOCK TODAY

Men and women from every walk of life in numbers which taxed the accommodations of his home in Belmont avenue, this afternoon attended the funeral of Alexander G. Cumnock, held at 2 o'clock. The services were jointly conducted by three former pastors of the Kirk Street Congregational church, to which he had given so much in Christian service. They were Rev. George M. Ward, D.D., president of Rollins college, Florida, at present acting pastor of the Eliot Union church; Rev. James E. Greig, D.D., president of Hampton Institute, and Rev. William F. English, Jr., who resigned his pastorate upon the union of the Kirk Street and Eliot churches. The quartet of the Eliot Union church sang and there were solos by Mrs. Grace Bowen Williams of Boston. A delegation was present representing the Appleton Co.

The honorary bearers were the following business associates and close friends: Albert W. Burnham, Charles H. Barnes, John Wright, Elmer Bowen, Charles F. Young, M. A. Rawlinson, and Frank E. Dunbar of Lowell. Charles E. Sampson of New York and Alfred Ripley, Samuel Wilder and Graeme Haughton of Boston. The active bearers were John Murphy, P. T. Corbett, O. G. Fish, Neil McN. Waters, Corbett Carroll, H. S. Gallagher, Thomas McNeeney, A. S. Locke and E. C. Pratt, all overseers of the Appleton Co. Burial was made in the Lowell cemetery.

As a mark of respect the stores in the Appleton block in Middlesex street were closed between the hours of 2 and 2:30 o'clock.

If tonight you should ask any one of 2000 odd kids in Lowell to name the man he likes the best, he unhesitatingly would say, John McManus. For today was the 19th time in as many years that Mr. McManus has played chaperon, friend and fairy god-father to multitudes of the city's children, taking them away from the fireside surroundings of street life and allowing them unhampered freedom in the great outdoors.

For 17 years, or until 1918, this annual red letter event was held beneath the sheltering trees of Mountain Rock on Lake Mascopic, but increased transportation forces forced a change in the program last summer, when for the first time the outing was held at Spalding park. The ball park again was the scene of the outing today and it served the purpose almost as well. This 19th outing made history, for it added one more to the long string of years which have supplied smiling and fair skies for this gracious event and in commenting upon it today, Mr. McManus said: "Just think, 19 years, 19 outings and not a single rainy day."

MARFA, Tex., Aug. 20.—Somewhere in Mexico, opposite Candelaria, Tex., American soldiers today continued the pursuit begun yesterday of bandits who captured and held for ransom Lts. Peterson and Davis, American aviators, rescued yesterday after payment of $8500 in gold to the bandit leader.

Military headquarters here was without information from the punitive expedition, heavy storms in the mountains of Chihuahua interrupting communication via the field telephones of the army.

Possibility that the American soldiers already have had their first skirmish with the bandits was indicated last night when two aviators returned to the American side with bullet holes in the plane of their machine and a report that they had been attacked by three Mexicans, one of whom they believed they killed with machine gun bullets. Another was believed to have been wounded and the third put to flight.

Four airplanes which arrived from Fort Bliss, near El Paso, were to augment the air protection of the Eighth Cavalry in Mexico today.

FRENCH UNCOVER
HUNS' INIQUITY*Military Court at Lille Hears
Testimony on Murders and
Outraging Girls

LITTLE, France, Aug. 20. (By the French wireless service.)—Evidence adduced before the French military court inquiring into crimes committed by the Germans during the occupation, indicates that a charge of murder may be brought against Von Heinrich, a former military governor of Lille.

Testimony against Von Heinrich was given today by Madame Jacques and Madame Martens, widows of men shot by the Germans. It was testified that after sentence of death had been passed on Jacques and Martens, Von Heinrich authorized the lawyers of the condemned men to appeal to the German emperor. While the appeal was being made, Von Heinrich, it was declared, ordered that the men be executed and they were shot 24 hours later.

The military court also has heard evidence against Von Zoelne, former quartermaster general at Charleville. It has been testified that he was responsible for the deportation of girls from Lille in 1916. Gen. von Gravenitz, governor of Lille at the time, it was declared, held Von Zoelne responsible for the order of deportation.

Dr. Van Haverhuy, a resident of Fives, near Lille, told the court that Captain Himmler de Heletra was responsible for the murder of the doctor's 19-year-old son in Nov., 1916. The boy was bayoneted by a German soldier on the order of the captain. The doctor testified further that the captain, the German governor of Roubaix, were responsible for the torturing of French youths in German work camps.

The court also is inquiring into the case of Lieut. Boyssel von Gymnitz of the 8th chasseurs of Treves. The lieutenant is charged with the attempted murder of Abbe Hallinck of Marcon-en-Baroeul. It is declared that the officer while drunk twice stabbed the priest in whose house he was living. Afterward he smashed the furniture and stole some money.

Last Boys Get $30 Week

BOSTON, Aug. 20.—Inquiry into the high cost of shoes by the Suffolk county grand jury today developed that some shoemakers have been making $120 a week. These instances were said to be few, but it was testified that many make $60 a week, while the average is about $40. Unskilled help formerly paid $12 to $15 a week, have profited most, last boys getting as much as $30 a week.

It was said that a pair of shoes sold by a manufacturer for $5.50 was displayed in a store 100 yards from the factory marked at $12.

The grand jury finished its shoe price inquiry with the testimony of Joseph C. Goyette of Haverhill, general agent of the Shoeworkers' Protective union. It is expected that the jury's report will be made Friday.

CHICAGO-SHOWLESS CITY

Stage Hands and Musicians
Expected to Walk Out,
Supporting Actors' Strike

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—A strike of stage hands and musicians as an adjunct of the actors' strike threatens to close every downtown playhouse in this city tonight. It was planned to walk out last night but leaders of the stage hands and musicians postponed action for one night.

"We might as well have it over with," Richard Green, head of the stage hands union said in declaring there would be no stagings at any playhouse today and that the musicians also would not appear.

The managers of all the theatres affected said they would look their doors. If threats of such character are carried out only the photoplay and vaudeville houses will be in operation.

of outlaws is believed to be in that region.

Gen. Barragan's bulletin says that on Aug. 11, General Manuel M. Dieguez, commander of military operations in the state of Chihuahua, reported to President Carranza that he had received a message from Andres Garcia, inspector general of Mexican consulates, forwarding a note from Col. Geo. T. Langhorne, American commander at Marfa, Tex.

Col. Langhorne's note stated that an American army airplane had landed in Mexican territory south of the Big Bend country, Tex., as a result of following the Conchos river instead of the Rio Grande. The bulletin continues by saying that the region where the airplane landed is a desert, where it is known some bands of outlaws have their rendezvous and have not been scattered because of the difficult nature of the country. The note from Col. Langhorne asked permission for other American airplanes to cross the frontier to locate the lost pilots.

It is stated that President Carranza gave his consent for other airplanes to cross, but, believing they would accomplish nothing, had ordered Gen. Antonio Pruneda, chief in command at Ojinaga, to send out cavalry scouting parties. It is said the government has been unofficially informed that the aviators have been ransomed and that the Eighth American Cavalry has sent troops in pursuit of the bandits, but that no official report has been received from Gen. Dieguez.

Washington Reports "Border Nuisance" to Have Strict Measures Taken

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Mexican border raids and depredations by bandits directly across the border, evidence from official sources today showed, will in the future bring upon the marauders the armed forces of the United States. The present punitive expedition, led by Major General Joseph T. Dickman, commander of the southern department, it was learned, constitutes the first working out of the new policy, which one official characterized as "handling the border nuisance without gloves."

The border guard, it was said, was equipped admirably for such work with swift moving cavalry, machine gun sections and airplanes stationed at detached points along the Rio Grande.

president yesterday, but as yet Pres. Powers has not received it.

In reply to this statement from the trustees, union officials in conference at the Quincy House, Boston, late yesterday afternoon gave out the following message:

"In reply to your question of 'Do we intend to remain true to our solemn agreement to abide by our arbitration wage award of the National War Labor Board?' we say that we will abide by any agreement we enter into, but in the present case, there has never been an agreement to abide by this decision. The failure to have an agreement was brought about by the refusal of yourself and colleagues to bind yourself to take this action."

"May 30 we notified the War Labor Board that under the six months' clause in the award handed down by this board, we wished our case reopened. We then presented an agreement calling for a wage of 75 cents an hour for motormen and conductors; the eight-hour day; time and a half pay for overtime work; time and a half pay for all Sunday and holiday work of motormen and conductors, and the 44-hour week for the miscellaneous workers."

"This agreement was rejected by your company. Your company also refused to allow this agreement to be placed before the war labor board for arbitration. Instead, a counter proposition was submitted to us, to be dated from July 18, which would mean the loss to our men of all retroactive

When Mr. Chas. Rowell, the well known milk dealer and farmer of Amesbury, Mass., found that Goldie really helped him get rid of his rheumatism, he decided it must be gold medicine and went after some for his wife. He said:

"I had rheumatism all winter and spring. I think it was caused by getting on and off the milk wagon all the time. It settled in the muscles below the knees and at night would creep my legs so that I would have to sit up and walk the floor. It affected my walking, too, and gave me a lot of trouble. Then a friend told me about Goldie and I went after some. It helped me."

pay between June 3 and that date, and that you would only allow the wage question to go before the arbitration board.

"In order to keep peace, we consented to go before the board, and the case was taken up by the board without either the company or the union agreeing to accept the award if it was unsatisfactory."

"We have always abided by decisions of the arbitration boards when we believed that fairness was taken into consideration in making the award. When we lost on the reduction of working time from seven to six days, so that the company could take out of the pay envelopes of the men enough money to pay for the legal and financial work in connection with the re-organization of the company, we abided by the decision, although many of our men are still on the bricks."

"If your thoughts are so warm for the patrons of the road and the suffering that will follow the suspension of service, this suffering can be prevented by you paying our men the same wages that are paid to the men on the Boston Elevated."

"You ask us to read your letter to the men at the special meetings to be held tomorrow night. We will read it to them, but we know now, that with the thoughts of the empty coal bins in their homes, their failure to properly feed their families and the holes in their shoes and clothing with a severe winter but a few months away, the letter and award will receive exactly the same consideration that the members of the Pittsburg Street Car men's union gave the award when it was placed before them."

Final Day of Food Sale

Continued

Uncle Sam's canned bargains, and Postmaster Meehan believes that when the sale closes late this afternoon, practically all the goods allowed the local office will have been spoken for.

At noon today many of the various commodities had been entirely exhausted, and the three clerks on duty were having a busy time filling the orders of the army of purchasers who are taking advantage of this chance to get a crack at old high cost of living.

Postmaster Meehan said that he was extremely gratified at the manner in which local people have taken advantage of the sale, and also at the almost entire absence of "hogging" throughout the three days of the sale. He regretted he said, that he had received no instructions regarding the sale of army blankets, regarding which the postal officials had been deluged with inquiries since the sale began.

It is possible, said the postmaster, that another parcel post sale of government food and other commodities will be held in the near future, if their receipt at the postoffice.

public demand requires it. However, the present sale comes to a close at 4:30 o'clock sharp today. Should another sale be inaugurated, details will be published in this paper as soon as the postmaster is notified.

Large orders were again a feature of the sale today. The 100-pound bags of rice, flour and dry beans continued strong sellers, and the "canned willie," or canned corned beef, to give it its civilian title, had almost all been taken up at noon.

The foodstuffs will be forwarded to Lowell from the army supply base in South Boston as expeditiously as possible, probably in a few days. They will then be distributed to the consumers, through the local parcel post delivery. Persons whose orders are unfilled by reason of the supply becoming exhausted will be able to receive the money paid by presenting their receipt at the postoffice.

Plans Complete for Welcome Home to French-Speaking Service Men

Chief Marshal Albert Bergeron has announced the route of the parade to be held on Labor day, in connection with the welcome home celebration for the French-speaking soldiers and sailors of this city, which is as follows:

The parade will form in Westford street, near the armory, promptly at 3 o'clock, going over the following streets: Smith to Branch, to Middlesex, to Central, to Merrimack, to Pawtucket, to School, to Riverside, to Moody, to Aiken, to West Sixth,

CAPT. ALBERT BERGERON

to West street and countermarch to Aiken, to Merrimack, to Cabot, to Salem, to Common as far as the North common, where it will be dismissed.

From the North common, the soldiers and sailors who will participate in the parade will be escorted to the lawn at the home of Mrs. Anna de Lamotte, at the corner of Salem and Whiting streets, where a buffet luncheon will be served. The parade will be reviewed by city and state officials at city hall.

It is expected that the parade, which will be a feature of the celebration, will be one of the best ever conducted in this city, and it is being predicted that it will even eclipse that held some 12 years ago, in observance of St. John's day. There will be five divisions and it is expected that at least 50 handsomely decorated floats depicting very important subjects in relation to the world war, will be in line. A feature of the parade will also be the cavalcade, in which it is expected no less than 100 horses will figure.

The chief marshal of the parade will be Capt. Albert Bergeron of K company, State Guard, while his chief of staff will be Lieut. Herve D. Parthenais. Lieut. Arthur L. Eno will be adjutant and the chief aide will be Sergt. Joseph Landry. Sergt. Eugene Ricard will be military aide and on the chief marshal's staff will be a representative of each organization that will participate in the parade.

The first division will be the military section with Lieut. Xavier A. Delisle as marshal. The chief of staff will be Ensign Napoleon Vigneau, while the adjutant will be Sergt. J. A. N. Chretien. Chief Quartermaster Joseph P. Crepeau will be in charge of the naval section and he will have for his chief aide Chief Machinist Eugene Demers. Corp. Emile Lamoureux will be bugler and Priv. Wilfrid Achin will be military aide.

The second division, which will be composed of semi-military organizations, will have as marshal Capt. George Labrie of Garde Sacre-Coeur. Capt. Nelson Phillips of Garde d'Honneur, will be chief aide, while the adjutant will be Lieut. Edmond Gamache of Garde St. Louis.

The third division will be composed of fraternal societies and will be in command of Francis X. Rivet, who

POWERFUL PILE REMEDY DISCOVERED

Has Never Failed to End Most Obstinate Case of Piles in Few Days

For years it has been proved that so-called external remedies applied to or inserted in the rectum cannot cure piles and that the best can only give temporary relief. Surgical operations also do not remove this cause, but simply the formation, known as Miro Pile Remedy, is so efficient in the treatment of piles, that even chronic cases of from 20 to 30 years standing with profuse bleeding have been completely cured in from three to ten days. Think of it! Just a few doses of a carefully balanced prescription and the most persistent case of piles is absorbed, never to return.

I just read what Henry J. Stone of the Lorain, Ohio, Fire Department says:

"I had bleeding and protruding piles for three years and tried all kinds of remedies without result, but was thoroughly cured after taking one bottle of Miro Pile Remedy."

Frank J. Phillips of Bird Island, Minnesota, says:

"I used a bottle of Miro. I worked like a charm. I no longer suffer with bleeding and protruding piles. I never regretted the money for such blessing as I am now enjoying. It would have cost the whole bottle, but it was not necessary."

All pharmacists dispense Miro or can get it for you on short notice. Surely it is worth the little trouble to obtain it to be rid of piles forever.

IMPORTANT—What is known as bleeding piles are not piles in the true sense of the word, although this condition may accompany a true case of piles. For this condition Miro Pile Remedy has been prepared as in such cases it is not necessary to take the internal prescription.

If your physician cannot supply you we will gladly send either of the above mail charges paid in receipt of price. Internal Treatment $5.00. War Tax 5c. Guaranteed Remedies Co., Patia, Ohio.—Adv.

will have as his assistant, Frederick Giroux.

The fourth division will be composed of members of the Sacred Heart league and Alfred Herivieux will be its marshal. He will be assisted by Arthur Morvan as chief of staff and Benjamin Lafrenesse as chief aide.

The fifth or automobile division will be in charge of Octave Lamontagne, who will have for chief of staff and chief aide respectively, Arthur Gaudette and Timothee Roy.

GERMANS TO BUY NO HOLLAND FOOD

BERLIN, Tuesday, Aug. 19.—(By the Associated Press)—As a result of the continued downward trend of the German mark, the food controller has ordered the discontinuance of purchases in Holland and Denmark. While the action is ostensibly based on the pretext that supplies already under contract meet most urgent needs and that these sources of supply may be temporarily dispensed with in view of increasing arrivals of overseas shipments, official concern over the exchange situation is held to be directly responsible for the controller's order.

PURCHASING AGENT HAS SOME TASK

Just to show what a merry life the purchasing agent of our good city leads, a consideration of some of the items on a requisition submitted to Purchasing Agent Edward H. Foye today by the school department in anticipation of the opening of the chemistry department of the high school next month will be of interest. Mr. Foye is asked to scamp around and corral among other things three pounds of carbon disulphide. After that is secured he must hustle and get one pound of carbon tetrachloride.

Use Coconut Oil For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoo contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Multisided coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Multisided coconut oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Adv.

ride and if his tongue is still working well after stuttering all that, the chemistry department would like him to buy a pound of chloroform. Just whom the chloroform is to be used on is not specified. A little ammonium nitrate, barium chloride, copper oxide, mercurous nitrate and calcium carbonate would also be acceptable by the chemistry department, according to the requisition. Asked where he would get all these elements, Mr. Foye shook his head and said: "Search me!"

Four men were forwarded from the Lowell naval recruiting station today for the U.S.S. No. Dakota. They were: Arthur F. Sheehan, 530 Agawam street; Charles S. Mayo, 31 Sydney street; Arvid L. Duffy, 63 Branch street; and Wilfrid Smith, Methuen. All four enlisted as apprentice seamen.

Red Letter Day

to mark the unbroken record; the good Lord must be on my side. We never have had a serious accident, either."

These incident facts are but trivial, however, in comparison with the record he has created for wholehearted philanthropy and kindness. He is indeed "the children's friend" and no one will gainsay him the happy title.

From the moment 10 special electric cars pulled out of Merrimack square at 8.30 o'clock this morning each loaded with 200 or more giggling, expectant and riotously happy children, the outing was on in full force. Especially detailed policemen assisted in filling the cars and steered the kids to seats, while at the park an even larger detail of police and firemen watched the unloading process and ushered the small army into the picnic grounds. It wasn't any ordinary unloading at the park, however, but rather a spontaneous eruption of dynamic childlike nervous, excitable and bubbling over with happiness.

Skin Without Wrinkles Now Easy to Have

There's no excuse for any woman having wrinkles now. It has been found that a simple mixture of saxolite and witch hazel has a remarkable effect upon their deepest wrinkles, heightening its vitality to immediately affect every line and wrinkle, keeping the cuticle smooth and firm as in youth.

The proportions are one ounce saxolite (powdered) to one-half pint witch hazel, ingredients which are found in every drugstore. The solution should be used as a wash lotion. It is equally effective in disposing of flabbiness of cheek and neck, as well as sagging below the eyes.—Adv.

the picture at the park once everybody was within the gates. The kids scattered in every direction, heading nowhere in particular but bound to keep constantly on the move. They typified perpetual motion to an extreme degree and were as easy to count and keep track of as a flock of darting chickens. But then, that's what they were out there for. It was to them one of Allah's ordained holidays and they drank deep of the proffered cup.

Drank is right. They broke through a perfect barrage of lemonade and hundreds of pairs of eyes looked heavenwards as liquid of every conceivable hue flowed down parched throats. Ice cream cones? Yes, verily, by the hundred. Even as early as 10 o'clock the prevailing slogan was: "When do we eat?" Eat—they did nothing else, but never seemed satisfied. Shortly before noon Mr. McManus gathered his helpers around him and gave out the orders to untie the sandwiches, let loose the pies and pull out the spigots of the coffee urns.

In long, snake like lines the kids awaited their turns and many ready hands parcelled out the "big eats."

Two thousand sandwiches, pies without number and 50 gallons of coffee disappeared like chaff before the east wind, while 200 gallons of lemonade flowed on like a ceaseless river.

Although it appeared otherwise, the kids really did other things except fill their "tummies." Officer Maroney took charge of a long list of sporting events and ran them off in quick style and also umpired a hard fought baseball game between the Young Ledgers and Chestnut A.C., which ended 8 to 6 in favor of the Ledgers. The prizes given out for the running events were very much worth while and included a suit of clothes for a boy, hats for girls, searchlights, stick pins, signet rings, gold and silver chains, cuff links and tie clasps. They were enthusiastically competed for.

Several friends of Mr. McManus helped him with carrying out the program, while the police and firemen who did valiant and patient duty were in charge of Sergt. Palmer. The return from the park was made at 4 o'clock. It was a success, this 19th outing and no mistake.

LEMON JUICE

FOR FRECKLES

Girls! Make beauty lotion for a few cents—Try It!

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and an lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and rosy-white skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless and never irritates.—Adv.

O'CONNOR REPORTS AT CLEVELAND TODAY

Ray Caldwell, recently a pitcher of the Boston Red Sox and prior to that with the Yankees, together with Dick O'Connor, outfielder of the Portland team of the defunct New England league, joined the Cleveland club in the American league today. O'Connor played two or three games for Lowell before going to Portland, but it was in the latter city that he showed unmistakable signs of promise, and Pres. Donnelly had no trouble in selling him at the close of the abbreviated season. Caldwell has been moved around considerably and is slipping fast.

SAYS KLOBY ALREADY UNDER 142 POUNDS

LAWRENCE, Aug. 19.—Tommy (Kloby) Corcoran, who clashes with Eddie Shevlin of Roxbury at O'Sullivan park Saturday afternoon, is already under the weight of 142 pounds which he has agreed to make for Shevlin. Tommy started road work Saturday and followed last night with a real boxing session at the park. Johnny Moran of Lowell, who, by the way, looks like a boy that will bear watching, traded wallops with the Lawrence boy and will continue to do so every night. Tommy says he doesn't intend to do any strenuous work at all, as he is already at weight and feels fit as a fiddle. He is ready to jump into the ring right now and his work from now until he is called into the ring will be of such a nature as to keep him fit. He must avoid getting sick.

SOUTHAMPTON TENNIS Third Round Starts With International Stars in Play

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 20.—The third round of the lawn tennis singles for the Meadow club cups today, will bring together several international stars. In the most important contest, Randolph Lycette, the Australian, is to meet S. Howard Voshell, the American left-hander and former national indoor champion. The other matches will be between Walter Merrill Hall and Willis E. Davis, the Pacific coast star, and C. B. Doyle of Washington, D. C., and T. R. Hill, who eliminated R. V. Thompson of the Australian forces yesterday. Weather conditions were favorable today.

GOOD GOLF WEATHER Big Pittsburgh Gallery Follows Amateur Champions

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 20.—Ideal weather conditions greeted the 16 players remaining in the national amateur golf championship at the Oakmont Country club today, when they started in the second round matches. The largest crowd that ever followed a golf match in this city turned out to watch Charles (Chick) Evans, Jr. of Chicago, the present champion, in his match with Francis Olmsted of Boston.

Robert T. Jones, Jr. of Atlanta, and Robert Gardner of Chicago, met in what was expected to be a hard-fought contest. The east, the west and the south were well represented in the 16 players who start today for the eight places in the third round which will be played tomorrow.

NEW ATHLETIC CLUB

Young Greek Residents Form Active Organization to Promote Good Sport

With a hundred of Lowell's Greek world war veterans as a nucleus, backed by all of the well known young Greek men of the community, the Marathon Social and Athletic club has come into life. It is a club which will have a development and the promotion of athletic games as its main objects and so auspiciously has it commenced its activities that already its officers are laying plans for either the erection or purchase of a club building which will contain a modern gymnasium. At the present time the club is temporarily housed in a building at Hanover and Market streets, but the membership is increasing at a rate which makes it imperative to seek larger quarters. Today the membership rolls carry 284 names and this number is being increased steadily. At a recent meeting Peter Tsiftaris, a member of the local police department and a prominent figure in Greek community life for a number of years, was unanimously elected president. Serving with him are the following officers and directors: Vice-president, Zisis Economou; treasurer, John Marcomoulos; assistant treasurer, Drasou Georgelas; financial secretary, Charles Tsanis; recording secretary, Andrew Papasprout; directors, James Zalon, Alek Gaton, George Mavradis, John Jektakos, Steve Stamatakis, Anna Tsanis, James Marris, John Paradosion; sporting agent, James Andromedakos. The latter has been prominent in local athletics, a weight man and jumped of considerable skill for some time. Mr. Tsiftaris hopes to see a membership of more than 500 within a few months and feels sure that the club will prosper and accomplish a great deal of good. With new buildings, regular gymnasium classes will be held and interest is certain to run high. The club will stage its first athletic carnival on Labor day, when a track and field meet will be held on the Peabody school campus. The organization has allied itself with the England Amateur Athletic union and therefore, its meets will be conducted under the auspices of that organization. The Labor day meet will embrace a long program of events which will be open to all registered Lowell athletes. The entry list will be ready for distribution within a few days.

The Call'em

So well has old Chief Bender been pitching for Richmond in the Virginia league this season that Pat Moran has used all legitimate means to induce him to join the Reds, but the chief has refused to leave his club, which has traveled from last to first place since he assumed the management. He has worked in 23 games and won 21 of them, eight coming within a period of two weeks. He will join the Reds on Sept. 7, the day after the Virginia league closes play. It would be a pretty bit of sentiment to see the crafty Redskin come back and help twirl Cincinnati to a world championship.

Advertising Pays

Nothing like publicity and we here with slip into the good graces of the business office by telling the world of our rising pay in dollars and cents. But we are beside the point. When a first class boxing show is staged in Jersey, it is not long before the boys head and eventually produce a city champion. Senseless claims and premature declarations of superiority are tireless in the extreme, never get anywhere. Let's have a little action.

SPEEDERS SEE VICTIMS Chicago Judge Orders Unusual Ordeal for Arrested Men in His Court

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—Punishment for automobile speeders calculated to be as effective as it is strange was prescribed yesterday by Judge John Stelk of Speeders Court. Defendants in court this morning were ordered by the judge to accompany his bailiff, Edward Spiering, to the county hospital and observe the sufferings of men, women and children whose bodies are racked with pain because of the carelessness of motorists. From the hospital the personally conducted tour stepped over to the morgue where automobile speeders were compelled to look upon the bodies of two children who met death under the crushing weight of motor car wheels lost to control of the driver.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 20.—One hundred and eighteen Russians, alleged Bolshevists, are held in the county jail today as the result of a raid by federal officials last night on an alleged Bolshevist meeting in East Youngstown. The officers broke up the meeting in the midst of a speech said to have been highly radical. An automobile loaded of red flags and Bolshevist propaganda was seized. Federal officials said charges of sedition would be filed against them later.

REPORT U. S. ARMY IN
ARMENIA SOON

N.E.A. Special to The Sun.

PARIS, Aug. 20.—Paris believes that the United States is preparing to assume the mandatory for Armenia and Constantinople.

It expects the announcement to be made about October 1.

Paris bases this belief on the departure of General Harbord for Constantinople, with a staff of 16 officers and two guard companies.

Armenian delegates in Paris have been insistent that protection be given Armenians before official announcement of their separation from Turkey is made. They fear a general massacre if such protection is not given.

General Harbord is to return to Paris September 30. Six weeks in the near east would give the general and his staff time to arrange for the disposal of American troops before the peace settlement as to Turkey and Armenia is announced.

General Harbord, it is believed, will be in charge of the administrative forces in Armenia. If it is brought under American protection, and his task will be even more exacting than was the military administration of the Philippines.

General Harbord has been General Pershing's chief of staff in France.

PARIS, (N.E.A.)—Youngest traitor to be executed in France is Georges Duval, 17. Duval was a farmhand. He betrayed to the Germans two Englishmen who were hiding in his district and the German authorities shot the British soldiers. Duval was condemned to death by court-martial.

WHEN THE PRINCE CAME IN 1860

NEW YORK.—Some contrast between this picture of the demonstration in honor of Prince Edward of Wales in 1860 and that which will be made of the reception of the present Prince of Wales upon his arrival in New York next month. A high-powered motor car instead of the quaint carriage here shown will be the vehicle at his disposal and planes, undreamed of in Edward's day, will circle overhead. We'll agree that the uniforms of a military escort of today are natter than those here pictured. Arrow points to Prince Edward.

CALIFORNIA FOR LEAGUE
STATE OFFICIAL SAYS

WASHINGTON, D. C.—If the people of California were to vote on the League of Nations, a majority would be cast for ratification, in the opinion of Frank C. Jordan, secretary of state for California, and one of the most popular officials that state has ever had.

Mr. Jordan, who is in Washington for a visit of a few days, is a republican and is now serving his tenth consecutive year as secretary of state, being re-elected the last time by a majority of more than 300,000.

The American people favor agreements to prevent future wars, Mr. Jordan said in a statement to a newspaper man after his arrival in the national capital, and will not approve of any partisan action that will again imperial civilization.

"The people of California are waiting until those for and against the league have fought the question out on the floor of the senate," said Mr. Jordan, who continued, "If a vote were taken in California today, it would be for ratification of the treaty. The American people favor agreements which will prevent wars in the future."

"They feel that the covenant will have such a force that nations will hesitate to attack when this agreement between nations is in existence. The good faith of the nation is pledged to the observance of its conditions, and that faith will not be lightly broken. Nations will hesitate to treat it as another scrap of paper."

"America fought for civilization, and will not approve of any partisan action at this great moment which may imperil it again."

"America needs a League of Nations as well as England and France. There was a moment in the great conflict when the success of German arms meant possible disaster to our own land. The day has passed when America can take refuge in an attitude of selfish isolation."

President Wilson's labors in the interest of lasting peace entitle him to the gratitude of every peace-loving and fair-minded man, Mr. Jordan asserted.

"Critics of the president attempt to visualize the superman," said Mr. Jordan, "whereas Mr. Wilson is merely a virile American who has devoted all his powers of heart and brain for the upbuilding of what is intended to be a barrier against the forces of destruction. In that barrier points of weakness may develop, but what he has already done constitutes a restraining force which ought to make every American feel that the welfare of the people of all nations has been safeguarded for the future, and for this much Mr. Wilson deserves the gratitude of every fair-minded man."

There's Thrift
in Using
Oval Label Foods

It isn't the amount you spend for food, but what you get for your money that determines whether or not your buying is on the wisest basis.

Full value and dependability—these are the important things to look for today. Value—to be sure you get 100 cents worth for every dollar you spend; dependability—to save you from experimenting or waste.

Under the Armour Oval Label—the symbol of food certainty—you can select from over 300 foods of highest excellence. They are true money-savers because there is no costly experimenting—hence no foods to throw away. And as practically all the hard work of preparation is done, there's a big saving in your time and energy.

When you check up your household expenses at the end of the month, you'll be glad you have an Armour shelf in your pantry. It takes the guesswork out of food buying and serving. Why not start one today? Ask your neighborhood grocer for Armour Oval Label Products.

H. C. L. WAR CALLS FOR
ARMY TRUCKS

By M. CLAYDE KELLY

Congressman from Pennsylvania.

The motor transport service of the post office department may be made as important an agency in peace as the motor transport service of the United States army has been in war. The same ability and genius which made possible the service of supply in France will make possible an even greater success of the service of supply in America.

The motor transport service of the army can be used in this new service of peace.

Here is a practical way to guarantee to many thousands of returning soldiers useful employment, which will mean the welfare of the nation. Here is a program of constructive development which will be of permanent benefit not only to the veterans but to all the people.

Trunk Roads Part of Project

The operation of this direct marketing plan between organized communities will show very soon, also, the importance of permanent road construction. A system of great trunk highways, crossing the continent east and west and north and south, can be built and paid for largely out of the receipts of this motor transport service of the post office department. They would be post roads as intended by the constitution, and would be federal highways with connecting roads built by the states and local subdivisions.

No more important task could be undertaken by this government now, and it would furnish constructive employment to thousands of those who are returning from overseas with experience in road construction in France and Italy and Belgium.

Now that the war is over, the task of producing and distributing food economically holds its challenge. The high cost of living is a vital problem of peace.

Should Be Land of Bounty

People should live more cheaply in America than anywhere else on earth. We have unlimited resources; land enough to feed the world in abundance. We have not begun to crowd ourselves, for here there are only 37 persons to the square mile. France had 121, England 375 and the other European nations were generally as thickly populated.

But in spite of marvelous advantages, the prices of foodstuffs have been climbing steadily upward for years and have reached the point where many persons are unable to secure sufficient of these necessities to enable them to maintain proper physical condition. The consumer is obliged to pay a vastly too large proportion of his day's wage to secure these commodities of life.

America has never tried to solve this problem in constructive fashion. While banking, transportation, industry have been highly organized, the mighty business of producing and distributing the food of the nation has been left to blind chance.

Now let us try co-operation in the production and the distribution of food. The organization which has proved so effective in other lines will work of feeding the people. The schoolhouses of America offer the logical centres for action, both in country and in city. Once the people realize the advantages, they will eagerly seize this opportunity for mutual benefit.

And connecting these communities, like veins and arteries of the body, carrying the life-giving currents to every part, should be the motor transport service of the post office department. It is a public service of the people, for the people and by the people.

BAY STATE'S CRISIS GRAVE

Trustees Remind Carmen
They Promised to Accept
Arbitration Decree

Important Message From Detroit Headquarters on Situ-
ation Expected Today

BOSTON, Aug. 20.—There seems to be little if any probability that the threatened strike of the employees of the Bay State street railway system can be avoided, according to the union leaders. Evidently they are taking it for granted that the men will vote to strike at their special meetings to-night and are making plans with that in view.

James H. Vahey, counsel for the Bay State Carmen's union, wired the officers of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America at Detroit yesterday afternoon and notified General President W. D. Mahon that the situation here on the Bay State system is so serious that immediate action is called for.

Men Defiant.
This telegram was sent because the officers of the Bay State Carmen's union have not received any replies to previous communications and telegrams sent Mr. Mahon by them, some of them urging him to come to Boston himself as quickly as possible. Although Mr. Vahey would not say what his telegram said, he would not deny that it declared that the Bay State system employees are so displeased with the recent award of the war labor board that they are in a mood to strike at once, irrespective of what the international officers may decide.

Today there will be a special meeting of the full joint conference board of the 15 local unions on the system at the Quincy House. The whole situation will be discussed and plans made for the board members to carry out when they address tonight's meeting of the different locals.

Urged to Brief Word

Chairman Loring and the other trustees of the Bay State system, Arthur G. Wadleigh, Fred J. Crowley, Isaac Sprague and Earle P. Charlton, sent a communication yesterday to the presidents of the 15 local unions on the Bay State lines urging them to remain true to their solemn pledge agreement to abide by the arbitration wage award of the national war labor board and requesting that the letter be read at the opening of each meeting tonight. The trustees state that they intend to stand by the war labor board's award, although it means the company must pay out $1,000,000 additional in wages this year.

"If arbitration awards are going to be cast aside with impunity of what use are they?" asked the trustees. "For years organized labor has struggled to obtain rightful recognition through arbitration. Now that this long and weary battle has been won, we cannot believe that you men intend to tear down the structure built by such painful effort."
Disaster Ahead
"With arbitration agreements flouted and the sacredness of the solemn promise gone between employer and employee the industrial world would be headed towards disaster. The public trustees have obeyed all arbitration awards, even when they believed that the decisions were against the weight of evidence. Without hesitation they re-instated a Lawrence motorman suspended on a charge of alleged intoxication. They also countermanded an order directing that the photographs of employees, paid for by the company, must appear on free passes."
"The public trustees and the union cannot consider only themselves in the matter. Bigger and greater than either the company or its employees is the travelling public."

Patrons' Right to Service

"Our patrons have the right to expect service, and it is our joint duty to furnish it. But this cannot be done if either of us, whenever dissatisfied with an arbitration award, forthwith proceed to violate its terms and tie up our line. Public sympathy is never with the party in a labor dispute which deliberately breaks its word and tramples upon arbitration agreements."

"We call upon every fair-minded employee to co-operate with us in protecting the public from such an outrage as the willful repudiation of the award."

ENJOYABLE OUTING

Through the efforts of Mrs. Julian B. Keyes, 35 Greek girls, members of the Phi Alpha club of the International Institute, were able to spend last Sunday at the seashore. For some of the girls this was their first trip to the beach and their appreciation and enjoyment may easily be imagined. In addition to Mrs. Keyes, the following Lowell people loaned automobiles for the journey: Mrs. T. W. Crocker, Tyler Stevens, E. J. Hyman, Frank H. Putnam, Will Howe and Mrs. Fred Coburn. All of the girls went bathing and got every bit of pleasure possible out of the day.

The International Institute will be the centre of many Americanization activities during the coming fall and winter. Mrs. Keyes is serving as recreational director of the club, but several more volunteer workers will be needed in the recreational, English and vocational departments.

HONOR "ACRE" HEROES TOMORROW NIGHT

The stage is all set for the big welcome home reception to the fighting sons of the "Acre" tomorrow night, plans for the affair being completed at a largely attended meeting held at the Broadway Social and Athletic club last evening. The program has been carefully arranged and includes many features that, those in charge expect, will go to make the reception one of the most enjoyable events in the history of the city.

The business men and residents of the "Acre" as well as many prominent men throughout the city have co-operated with the Broadway club members in the undertaking and now all that remains to insure the success of the affair is good weather.

The streets in the vicinity of the Broadway club, the club building, and the lot across the street, where the exercises will be held, have been beautifully decorated for the occasion. All the telephone poles along Broadway are covered with the national colors, while business establishments and residences also are adorned with red, white and blue bunting.

The reception will be held in the evening, but in the afternoon an entertainment for the children of the neighborhood will be provided. All details were thoroughly mapped out at last night's meeting. James F. Heslin, chairman of the general committee in charge presided over the meeting. After all preliminary matters and reports of committees had been passed upon a roster of the parade and celebration was made out. It follows:

The parade is to form on the North common at 7 p. m. and will cover the following route: Cross street, to Suffolk street, to Broadway, to Adams street, on to Fletcher, again to Broadway and School street, counter-marching to the headquarters of the event, the Broadway club.

CONVENTION OF C. Y. M. N. U.

OPENS AT NEW YORK

ON SATURDAY

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The coming national convention of the Catholic Young Men's National Union at the Hotel Vanderbilt, New York, on August 23 and 24, is expected to exert a profound influence on the future trend of secular Catholic activity in the United States.

The gathering, which will be the first of its kind held since the end of the war, will for that reason if no other, be of the first importance, and its discussions and deliberations will be followed with interest by progressive Catholic leaders everywhere.

The old antebellum problems are not now alone in their demand for their attention from those who have made Catholic social upliftment their life work. Those problems are linked with others begotten of wartime conditions, and their joint insistence upon attention will fully tax the mental resources of both lay and clerical Catholic leaders.

In proportion, if the already expressed intention of the several hundred units in the National Union of Catholic Young Men's Clubs are carried out, the convention will far surpass any previously held.

Members of the clergy whose opinions have always borne weight in the councils of the church, and prominent laymen who have long been active in Catholic social work, will participate in the discussions during the two-day convention, and addresses will be delivered by men of national and international reputation who have made an exhaustive study of present religious and social conditions.

Practically every club in the greater centres of Catholic secular activity will be fully represented at the conference, and many of the Catholic clubs in the smaller cities and towns. While Philadelphia, New York, Brooklyn and Boston will contribute the strongest delegations, word has been received by the national president of the A. C. Y. M. N. U., Mr. Michael at national headquarters from clubs in widely scattered parts of the country to the effect that representatives will be sent to the national convention.

JOHN MCCORMACK TO ESTABLISH BIG STABLE OF THOROUGHBRED CATTLE

BOSTON, Aug. 20.—John McCormack, the Irish tenor, paid $10,000 for a thoroughbred Guernsey cow at the Oak farm, Saltaire, yesterday and named it Ellen. Two hours later Ellen gave birth to a heifer and had the singer so desired he could have sold the young cow for $3000.
McCormack is going to establish a big stable of thoroughbred cattle. His initial buy at the Oak farm, which is owned by C. W. Barron, cost him $10,000 for his herd of Guernseys. The cows will be shipped today to the McCormack farm in Roton, Conn.
McCormack will make his debut as an exhibitor at the cattle show at the Boston fair, Braintree, Sept. 25, 26 and 27. Immediately after he purchased the herd he gave Gen. Hugh Barronoff his entries for the Guernsey classes.

BOSTON, Aug. 20.—John McCormack, the Irish tenor, paid $10,000 for a thoroughbred Guernsey cow at the Oak farm, Saltaire, yesterday and named it Ellen. Two hours later Ellen gave birth to a heifer and had the singer so desired he could have sold the young cow for $3000.
McCormack is going to establish a big stable of thoroughbred cattle. His initial buy at the Oak farm, which is owned by C. W. Barron, cost him $10,000 for his herd of Guernseys. The cows will be shipped today to the McCormack farm in Roton, Conn.
McCormack will make his debut as an exhibitor at the cattle show at the Boston fair, Braintree, Sept. 25, 26 and 27. Immediately after he purchased the herd he gave Gen. Hugh Barronoff his entries for the Guernsey classes.

INJUNCTION CASE NOT DECIDED

Pleadings to be Concluded
September 2—Stipulations
Agreed Upon

Boston Man to be Appointed
by Judge Lawton to Hear
Case

The petition of the Federal Shoe Co. of this city for an injunction to restrain members of the Allied Shoe Workers' union, also of this city, from interfering with the company's business by so-called "picket duty" and other actions of the same nature, came before Judge Lawton in the court of equity, Boston, yesterday, and after arguments by counsel on both sides, stipulations were agreed upon by both parties governing the action of the strikers pending a decision on the petition.

Judge Lawton said that he would appoint a master to hear the case not later than Sept. 2.

Edward J. Tierney of the firm of Farley & Tierney represented the shoe company and Daniel J. Donahue of the firm of Donahue & Donahue, the union. The opposing lawyers could not come to an agreement on the appointment of a master and the matter was left to the court. The latter said a Boston man would be appointed.

The stipulations agreed upon by both sides were as follows:

"In the above entitled action it is hereby stipulated that until further order of the court the defendants and each of them shall refrain from interfering with the complainant's business by intimidating, threatening, annoying or hindering any person now or hereafter in the employ of complainant, or desirous of entering same, from remaining therein or entering the same, from congregating in squads near the plaintiff's premises for the purpose of annoying or hindering plaintiff's employees, from unlawfully hindering or enticing persons now in the employ of the plaintiff to leave the same. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the defendants from peaceful persuasion as established by law."

The petition of the complainants seeks to restrain the respondents from interfering with the plaintiff's business by intimidating, threatening, annoying or hindering any person now or hereafter in the employ of the complainant or desirous of entering the same, from remaining peacefully in their places of abode or pursuing their respective ways about the streets after working hours; from maliciously inducing or enticing any person now or hereafter in the employ of the complainant to leave the same; from reporting the complainant as "unfair" or placing or keeping the name of the complainant upon any unfair list, so-called; from interfering with any of the complainants' business by any scheme or design among themselves or with others organized for the purpose of interfering with or injuring the complainants' business by intimidating, annoying or obstructing persons now or hereafter in their employment or desirous of entering the same, or by any other means.

GERMAN INDEMNITY

New Bill Aims to Meet Financial Responsibilities Payable to Allies

BERLIN, Tuesday, Aug. 19.—(By the Associated Press)—A bill providing ways and means for carrying out the peace terms was presented before the National Assembly at Weimar, Monday, with the approval of the imperial council. It is a far-reaching measure the purpose of which is to set definite limits and establish control of all sorts of activities in commerce, finance and industries bearing on the means of meeting the responsibilities laid upon Germany by the conditions of peace.

It empowers the government for instance, to demand and enforce industrial, mercantile and forest work closely concerned with the work of paying indemnities. The government is authorized to demand information about wages and material and may inspect the books, papers and business documents of firms, as well as fix prices, adjust labor conditions and supervise the efficiency of industrial equipment. It also imposes penalties up to three years' imprisonment and a fine of 50,000 marks for illegal payments of money.

NEW JERSEY IS HUNTING HOARDED FOOD

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 20.—A systematic canvass of every cold storage warehouse in the state to determine whether food is being hoarded, has been undertaken by inspectors of the state board of health, it was announced today. Sealers of weights and measures have been asked to co-operate in the investigation.

Already the Harnegat Power & Cold Storage Co. and the Bay State Fish Co. of Boston, have been summoned before the state department of health on Friday to show cause why 57,000 pounds of fish, which has been in storage for over a year should not be destroyed as unfit to eat. The fish would begin to decompose as soon as exposed to the outer air, officials said.

Bill to "Square" Him Meeting With Opposition

BERLIN, Tuesday, Aug. 19. (By the Associated Press)—A bill has been submitted to the Prussian cabinet which provides that 170,000,000 marks shall be handed over to former Emperor as total settlement for the civil list he lost "through forced abdication," according to a Weimar despatch to the Die Freiheit. The cabinet has not yet reached a decision, it is said, because the scheme is opposed by Herr von Braun, the minister of agriculture.

consolidation of existing lines into strong, competitive systems, when considered to be in the public interest.

The association recommended, Mr. Cuyler said, a great unification of public regulation of the railroads by broadening national control. It believed, he said, there should be exclusive national control of the issue of securities and the expenditure of its capital. Provision for federal incorporation of interstate carriers also was advocated.

"To avoid the risk of financial disaster," upon return of the roads to private operation, Mr. Cuyler said the railway executives believed it necessary that the guaranteed standard return from the government be continued until it was possible to "restore the equilibrium between revenues and expenses" and make the carriers again self-supporting. It was proposed that this readjustment of rates be undertaken by the interstate commerce commission in consultation with the director general of railroads and the proposed federal transportation board.

By way of further financial relief for the road upon resumption of private operation, it was advocated that their indebtedness to the government on account of capital expenditures made during the period of government control be funded for 10 years.

RESOLUTIONS

To the Board of Directors of the Lowell Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

Your committee appointed to take appropriate action on the death of the late William E. Livingston have attended to that duty and herewith submit the following memorial:

WHEREAS, William Edward Livingston, the senior member of the Board of Directors of the Lowell Mutual Fire Insurance Company, died at his home in this city July 5, 1919, in the eighty-eighth year of his age;

His surviving associates in the Directorate of the company have been anxious to his personal worth, and to the value of his services to the Company, as well as to the community in which from his boyhood he resided and wrought his way to the position of prominence.

He lived to see Lowell, which was little more than an enterprising village in the year of his birth, become one of the great cities of the commonwealth, and he was prominently and actively identified with the various agencies which have contributed to its growth and development.

He was a fine type of that class of men who in the early days of our local history gave freely of their time and substance to the promotion of the general good, and his ability and unselfish interest in civic affairs were recognized and appreciated by his fellow citizens as attested by the frequent calls made upon him for public service.

He was a member of the board of aldermen of the city of Lowell in 1867 and 1868, and although a member of the political party which at the time was in a decided minority he was elected to the state senate of 1875 and of 1876. He was also a member of the commission under which were constructed the city water works, the memorial building and the present city hall, all of which stand as enduring examples of what may be accomplished by men of ability and integrity when placed in charge of the expenditure of public funds.

Mr. Livingston was chosen a director of the Lowell Mutual Fire Insurance company, January 31, 1863, and continued in that office for a period more than fifty years, the term for which he was last elected not having expired at the time of his decease.

In his capacity as a director of the company, as well as public he was a model of faithfulness to the last.

In the conduct of the company's affairs his business acumen and judiciousness of what were invaluable, and his unfailing courtesy endeared him to his associates who place upon their records this expression of their appreciation of his long and faithful service.

35,000 GREEKS BEG AID AGAINST BANDITS

SALONIKI, Aug. 20.—Delegates claiming to represent 35,000 Greeks living in the Ardahan district in the Caucasus, according to the Athens news agency, have telegraphed the peace conference at Paris an appeal for allied protection against bandits and the Turkish military who they asserted have pillaged the country and massacred Greek inhabitants. The despatch was quoted as saying: "The despatch directed attention to the fact that the people in the Ardahan district already had suffered severely during the war because of the Turkish and Russian operations there."

LARCENY CASES IN POLICE COURT

He got the watches in a horse trade. So said William R. Richardson of Loomis, who was arraigned before Judge Fairlight in police court today, on the charge of stealing a watch from an unknown person. Officer Kennedy, who made the arrest, averred that William had been trying to dispose of a watch in a local pawn shop, and that when arrested another valuable watch was found on him. William's case was continued a week, and he was ordered to furnish bail of $300 while his story of the horse trade, and several other little matters, are being investigated.

William H. Canning, present on a like charge, larceny of a watch from persons unknown, also had his case continued one week, and was held in $300.

Called on continuance on the charge of robbing Peter J. O'Rourke of $11 in cash, three weeks ago, William H. Germain, who says he is a sailor on leave, had his case continued one month, and was given permission to rejoin his ship with the understanding that he would communicate with the local police at the end of that time.

Several offenders were charged with drunkenness and drew down small fines or continuances, and the probation officer issued two releases.

LONGLEY'S NAME

NOT ON BALLOT

The name of Frank L. corps at Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont, on June 13, 1917. A promotion to the grade of corporal in the medical corps came on Dec. 28 of that year and on Feb. 23, 1918 he stepped up to the rank of sergeant. He was made a first class sergeant in June, 1918 and while at Camp Devens in August was commissioned a lieutenant in the sanitary corps.

Shortly after that he received orders which took him to Fort Porter, Buffalo, N. Y., where he first served as mess officer at general hospital No. 4. His other duties at Fort Porter included, assistant to the commanding officer, personnel adjutant, post exchange officer, director of posts and in charge of providing amusement and recreation for the enlisted men. All these posts he filled with characteristic success.

THE GAGNON COMPANY

NOT THE LARGEST STORE, BUT THE GREATEST VALUES

Will open the doors of its new store in a few days. Then Lowell will see the tangible results of the work of this new organization of skilled business people—tangible results in the form of a thousand things that have been collected to meet the wishes and needs of the future patrons of this store.

All the departments, filled with new merchandise, will offer interesting hours of inspection as well as hundreds of suggestions, not to speak of many opportunities of economical purchasing for the men or women folks.

To Look or To Buy, You Will Always Be Welcome

THE ORGANIZATION

Of this new store is one that is thoroughly conversant with the needs of the public. Every member is well known to the buying public, having catered to their needs for many years, and is recognized as an expert in his or her line by both the purchaser and the manufacturer. The head of every department has taken a personal interest in selecting merchandise that will be pleasing, distinctive and thoroughly reliable. It is quite unusual to find such an assemblage of expert merchandisers. Nowhere in Lowell will this force of salespeople be surpassed.

Wait for the Opening of this New Store

Then come and renew acquaintances.

FUNERALS

MORAN—The funeral services of Chester A. Moran took place at his home in Carlisle yesterday afternoon. Services were held at the grave at Forestdale cemetery, Malden, conducted by a delegation representing the United States navy yard of Charlestown. The firing squad of the United States navy fired three volleys over the grave and "taps" was sounded. The bearers were comrades representing the camp. The funeral was under the direction of Undertakers Young & Blake.

SCULLY—The funeral of Mrs. Nettie Scully took place this morning at 8:30 o'clock from the chapel of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons and was largely attended. The cortege proceeded to St. Peter's church, where at 9 o'clock a funeral mass was sung by Rev. Daniel Heffernan, with the choir under the direction of Mr. James E. Donnelly rendering the Gregorian mass, the solos being sustained by Miss Mary Hynde and Mr. Donnelly. Mr. William Patrick McCarthy presiding at the organ. The bearers were John Brady, Francis Lawrence, William White and Thomas Flanagan. At the grave at St. Patrick's cemetery, Rev. Fr. Heffernan read the committal prayers. The burial was in charge of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

FRAZER—The funeral of Louis Frazer took place this morning from the home of his foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Charlebois, 150 Tuckett street. A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Jean Baptiste church at 10 o'clock by Rev. Eugene Turcotte, O.M.I., assisted by Rev. Fr. Heffernan, O.M.I., as sub-deacon. The bearers were Arthur Dubois, Donald Arcand, Joseph Doria, Marion Gagne and Emmanuel Goyette. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Joseph Bolduc, O.M.I. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Joseph Albert.

TIE UP LOUISVILLE

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 20.—With city officials almost despairing in their efforts to end the strike of 1300 unionized motormen and conductors of the Louisville Street Railway company, which was completely tied up the city's transportation system hundreds of workers again walked to work today. Practically every automobile in the city engaged in transporting workers, while special trains carried employees to railroad yards.

"I Couldn't Keep House Without My ROYAL"

Housewives who have used the ROYAL Electric Cleaner are practically unanimous in this opinion. They simply couldn't and wouldn't go back to the dust-creating, disease-spreading broom and carpet beater with their attendant labor and wear and tear.

ONLY $5.00 DOWN

—Will place a ROYAL in your home. You pay the balance a little each month with your electric light bill. It will keep your whole house clean from top to bottom all the year round, and there will be no accumulation of dust and dirt in the spring.
